Tams, Starting Dual Role, May Consolidate Municipal Courts Here

A single, consolidated municipal court for both Borough and Township is a gleam in the eye of Theodore T. Tams Jr., new magistrate for Princeton Township.

Magistrate Tams has been on the Borough bench since 1958 and was re-appointed New Year's Day to another three-year term. In the Township, he will complete the remaining two years in Burton Peykin's three-year term.

The magistrate also hopes eventually to include the Township in his new volunteer probation-counsellor program. Under the auspices of the Borough, that program is scheduled to get under way in the next few weeks.

Volunteers are now being selected. Training will begin in mid-January and will conclude six weeks later. This is the program, successfully operated in many cities across the country, in which community volunteers give their time to people who are put on probation by the municipal court.

Nationwide, the magistrate says, these programs have brought a dramatic reduction in the number of repeaters involved in routine crimes. In fact, the magistrate says he has heard that this recidivism rate has dropped from 75% to 15-25%, where volunteer counsellors are at work.

Because Judge Tams prefers to start the program small and let it grow, the Township will have to wait awhile. In the meantime, Princeton will experience for the first time, a single magistrate sitting for both municipalities.

"I plan to keep an eye on both courts to see whether there would be any advantages—cost savings and the like—to creating a single court," Judge Tams says. "Several towns in New Jersey do have a single court. I'm not yet sure it would be right for Princeton, but I'm going to keep it in mind."

Even with the present two-court system, a single judge serving Township and Borough will mean uniformity of procedures and sentencing in both motor vehicle and criminal court, Judge Tams points out.

"I don't mean to imply that there has been a difference in treatment in the two courts," he smiles, "but there certainly can't be a difference now!"

But the difference between an urban and a sub-urban community do mean differences in Borough and Township court cases, Judge Tams observes.

"Some violations in the Borough you don't necessarily get in the Township. There are more narcotics violations in the Borough because that's where drugs are probably passed—and it's easier to spot these violations, too. More alcoholic violations, the drunk and disorderly cases, gravitate to the center of town.

Any municipal court, the magistrate explains, deals only with disorderly-persons offenses. Major offenses are under the jurisdiction of the upper courts.

Minor criminal acts — assault, shoplifting, possession of marijuana and hashish if the amount is 25 grams or less of marijuana and five

Princeton Officials Endorse Bombing Protest; New Year's Ceremonies See Newcomers Sworn In

A bombing protest telegram to Congress, urging an end to the Vietnam War, was signed unanimously by all elected officials in both Borough and Township on New Year's Day in the course of the annual re-organization meetings.

A silent vigil opposing bombings and the war, was held outside Township Hall prior to the Township's 11 a.m. municipal meeting, and outside Borough Hall an hour later.

More than 100 Princeton residents, including several municipal officials of both parties and their families, stood in the silent protest.

The telegram, addressed to both the United States Senate and the House of Representatives, was introduced by Borough Councilman Martin P. Lombardo and endorsed by Mayor Robert W. Cawley and the other five Council members.

TWO FOR THE BOROUGH: Barbara B. Sigmund and Robert S. Powell are the two new faces on Borough Council, sworn in New Year's Day. Both are Democrats.

Township Joins In. After it had been adopted, the new Township mayor, Jay Bleiman, spoke from the rear of the Borough Council chamber and asked Council to add to the telegram the names of all five Township Committeemen.

Previously, Mayor Bleiman had noted the presence of the vigil outside Township Hall by remarking that "no words can express the anger, anguish and frustration we feel over the bombing. These citizens are urging us not to forget, and to continue to care . . . We pray that 1973 will see the end of our tragic involvement in this war."

The message to Congress condemns the bombing and urges an end to the war "by the exercise of Congress' Constitutional power."

Two New Jobs for Moore. On the domestic front, events proceeded serenely according to plan in both Borough and Township. The newsmaker, if there could be said to be one, was Borough Councilman Joseph P. Moore who was appointed Police Commissioner and elected Council President.

Last year, Mr. Moore made front page news when he declined to accept Council appointment for himself because Mayor Cawley had refused to appoint him Police Commissioner.

According to the Councilman, Mayor Cawley had told him he would be "an intimidating factor" to the police if he were Commissioner.

But that was a year ago. Now there is a new police chief. Mr. Moore did accept a Council assignment to the drug committee and, by many reigns, Councilman Arthur P. Morgan, whom the mayor appointed Commissioner a year ago, turned over his splendidly baroque gold badge to Mr. Moore on New Year's Day with a gentle joke and no apparent regrets.

It is usual on Council for the senior member of the majority party to be elected President. Mr. Moore, as senior Democrat, was nominated by freshman Democratic Councilman Robert S. Powell. Mr. Morgan immediately moved to close the nominations, and Mr. Moore was in.

Democrats Take Office. The two new Council members, both Democrats, are Barbara B. Sigmund and Mr. Powell. Mrs. Sigmund commenting on whether, as a female Council member she was "Councilwoman", "Councilperson" or "Council thing," said she'd done a little research and uncovered the fact that in medieval boroughs, governors were called "burgesses." She suggested that she, therefore be called a "burgessa". Everybody laughed, but nobody took her up on it.

Borough Council's chamber was filled, as always, with spouses, children and parents of municipal officials. Among them was Mrs. Hale Boggs, introduced to the audience by her daughter, Mrs. Sigmund. The new Council member and her mother are now in New Orleans attending memorial services for Mr. Boggs who disappeared in October when his plane was lost in the Alaskan wilderness.

In making Council assignments, Mayor Cawley appointed Mrs. Sigmund to the Regional Planning Board and the Local Assistance Board. He also assigned her as Council liaison to the Civil Rights Commission and the Housing Authority.

Mr. Powell was named Council representative to the Intergovernmental Drug Commission. Mr. Morgan will be finance chairman, Mr. Lombardo will continue as Fire Commissioner and liaison to the Recreation Commission as well as youth-and-senior-citizens man on Council.

The Borough's Board of Health will again have Orren Jack Turner as a member. A former appointee to the board, Mr. Turner has been off for the past year. Mrs. Nelson van d. Blink and Mrs. Louise Bessire were also appointed to the health board.

In other citizen appointments, Mayor Cawley named the Rev. Leon Gipson to a five-year term on the Princeton Regional Planning Board. One Borough vacancy still remains on the board.

Michael Myers, who ran unsuccessfully for Council on the Republican ticket, received an appointment to the Sewer Operating Committee.

The Borough Zoning Board will continue to have Charles St. John and Albert Hinds as members, both were reappointed. Mrs. Margery Claghorn was named regular member - moving up from alternate - and Murray Medvin was named alternate in her place.

Stanley Adelson was appointed to a three-year term on the Joint Civil Rights Commission.

On the civil service side, Administrator Robert F. Mooney and Borough attorney Gordon Griffin were both reappointed.

Bleiman New Mayor. As expected, Junius (Jay) Bleiman won unanimous election as Mayor, or Chairman of Township Committee. The vice-chairman is newcomer Abbot Low Moffat.

The other newcomer is William T. Sutphin. These two newly-elected Democrats with Mr. Bleiman, give the party a 3-2 majority on Committee. Sanford Reynolds appointed to fill out the term of James A. Floyd, and Mrs. Barbara B. Smoyer are the two Republicans.

Sometimes twitted about his propensity for quoting Shakespeare, Mr. Bleiman warned the Township Hall audience that his natural speech would be without Elizabethan reference.

Had the election gone the other way, however, he said he would have quoted Hamlet.

"Now I am alone..." He also said that, as mayor, he felt his position paralleled that of President Millard Fillmore whose servant learned of Fillmore's impending nomination and informed his master about it. The servant prefaced his announcement by saying, "Ridiculous as it may seem..."

Positions Filled. Two of Mayor Bleiman's citizen appointments, he revealed, are people who responded to newspaper requests for volunteers. They are John Kuser, named to five years on the Shade Tree Commission, and Lee C. Cleveland, appointed to the Sewer Operating Committee and as Township representative to the joint Montgomery-Rocky Hill Township sewer committee.

Mrs. Martha Hartman was appointed to the Joint Civil Rights Commission and Mrs. Edwin C. Hutter to the Joint Advisory Committee on Public Transportation.

Mrs. Martha Hartmann was appointed to the Joint Civil Rights Commission and Mrs. Edwin C. Hutter to the Joint Advisory Committee on Public Transportation.

The Township's citizen member on the Regional Planning Board will be Harold G. Logan, and the Committee member will be William Sutphin Mr. Sutphin has been a citizen member for the Township on the board.

Miss Joyce Sinkler and Dr Marvin Blumenthal were named to the Township Board of Health, and Mrs. Neil Peterson was re-appointed. Mrs Peterson is the board's liaison on the Intergovernmental Drug Committee.

Mrs. Margaret Broadwater was re-appointed to three years on the Zoning Board. Alternates named were Mrs. Golda Gottlieb, who is also a Township member of the Regional Planning Board, and William J. O'Shaughnessy. Both were named for one year.

. . and "Thanks!"

Two Borough public servants who retired in 1972 received the warm thanks of Mayor Robert W. Cawley in his New Year's Day address.

Former Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan and Arnold Ryden were the two men cited. Chief McCrohan served 37 years on the Borough force, 12 as Chief. Mr Ryden was Superintendent of Streets for the Borough for 25 years.

COMMISSIONER MOORE: It took o full yeor of waiting, but Councilmon Joseph P. Moore finally achieved his gool of the Borough Police Commissioner oppointment. He was denied the job lost year. This New Year's Doy he was olso elected Borough Council President.

Mayor Bleiman will keep the job of Police Commissioner for the Township. Mrs. Smoyer will remain as Township member on the Intergovernmental Drug Committee, and will also keep the health welfare, recreation and youth portfolios.

Mr Moffat will assume the taxation-finance position, and will also have engineering and public works. Mr. Sutphin will take over housing, building and zoning and transportation, in addition to keeping his seat on the Planning Board.

Waste management will be under the guidance of Mr. Reynolds, who will also have civil rights, environmental protection and fire.

Consolidated Courts

grams or less of hashish—these are the kinds of offenses that come before a municipal magistrate.

Within the Princeton community and among some of its police officers, Judge Tams has sometimes been regarded as too lenient.

No Simple Solution. "Law and order? Too many people think that when you jail someone you have solved the problem and completed the cycle, so to speak, but it just ain't so!" Judge Tams believes.

"Everyone wants to apprehend people who behave criminally, but when you say that jail solves the problem, you're dead wrong. It is of course true that some people do seem to defy any correctional treatment perhaps they can't be handled any way except jail."

Upper courts tend to make probation part of a sentence. With his new program, Judge Tams hopes to bring "more meaningful probation" to the municipal level.

The new volunteer program has been designed with the close cooperation of the Mercer County probation officer.

Probation Procedure. "When I put somebody on probation," Judge Tams explains, "they will be interviewed by the county probation officer. Then the volunteer counsellor, working under the close supervision of the probation office, will take over during the probationary period."

County probation officers are notoriously over-worked and without the time to spend with individual probationers.

"The volunteer will probably spend about four hours a week with the probationer. We're still working out how much time—it will really come down to giving time when the probationer needs it, because what these people need is somebody who will LISTEN.

"The man or woman on probation doesn't have any body to turn to whose advice he respects. We'll try to match the volunteer with the probationer to make sure there is mutual respect. Maybe we will match a black volunteer and a black probationer, a white volunteer and a white probationer, but it won't necessarily be that rigid."

Volunteer Help. Volunteers responded with enthusiasm to Judge Tams' original appeal about a year ago. The magistrate, assisted by an expert from Camden County who designed a similar program there, will select about a dozen volunteers.

"We're starting small, deliberately. I don't know yet how many people or what kind of people will be put on probation for what offenses. I don't want to pick volunteers, put them through training and then not have them used."

Fourteen years on the Borough bench have given Judge Tams a certain experience regarding offenders: "I still think a number of people, given a fine or suspended sentence, never get into trouble again—maybe this is true of the majority.

Theodore T. Tams Jr.

"I've seen the repeaters: when somebody comes before me for a second time, I comment on this. I warn the person to do a lot of thinking and get straightened out, because next time, I will be more severe."

Volunteers in the new program will make wide use of the town's resources; for example, the experience of the Hot Line in responding to people who need to pour it all out, will be invaluable.

Corner House, the drug center, will be closely involved because drugs can be the real reason people turn to crime. The volunteers will also be in close touch with Mercer County's drug program.

"We'll learn the problems and work on a small scale within the community," Judge Tams concludes. "To be too ambitious is to ask for disappointment, but I feel very optimistic about success."

NINE FOR THREE

But Candidates May Drop Out. At press time this week there were still nine candidates for the three seats vacant on the Princeton Regional School Board.

But jockeying, conferring and arm-twisting have been in progress ever since the filing deadline last Thursday and it is probable that some candidates will withdraw from the race by the deadline this Friday at 4 p.m.

The reason for persuading some candidates to withdraw, of course, is that too many candidates with a single point of view, either pro-Administration or anti-Administration, can kill each other off and give the race to the opposition.

In the Township, where there is only one seat available, there are five candidates. Incumbent Robert Bierman, school board president, decided not to run. The candidates are:

Frederick J. Bauer, 6 Littlebrook Road, the first to announce that he was a candidate. He is a free-lance writer specializing in outdoor and nature books.

Dr. Melvin A. Benarde, 45 Cuyler Road, is professor in the department of family medicine and community health at Hahnemann Medical School, Philadelphia. He is also a member of the Township Board of Health.

A.M. Carnevale, 106 Leabrook Lane, is an electronic technician for A.T. and T., with headquarters in Allentown.

Allen W. Hartley, Province Line Road, is a tree surgeon. He is superintendent of the Lambert estate.

Mrs. Gail Pietrinferno, 233 Mt. Lucas Road, is a psychologist, and a Ph.D. candidate at Princeton University.

In the Borough, two seats are available. Dr. Henry Powsner and Mrs. Evelyn Geddes declined to run again. Candidates for the two Borough seats:

Mrs. Joan Doig, 12 College Road, former editor at Educational Testing Service, member of the executive board of the Princeton Study Center and in the past election campaign, town coordinator for Frederick Boben, Congressional candidate.

Mrs. Judith Getis, 92 Moore Street, member of the board of the League of Women Voters and of the Joint Borough-Township Commission on Aging.

Dr. I. Andrew Shelpuk, Scott Lane, dentist.

Hawley C. Waterman, 140 Snowden Lane, athletic director at Newark State College in Union, and former athletic director at The Hun School.

VARIANCES GRANTED

For Public Housing. The developer of Princeton Township's 100-unit public housing project, Benedict Yedlin, and the Princeton Housing Authority have been granted variances allowing construction of rooms smaller than those required by the Township zoning ordinanance.

After a special meeting last Friday night, three of the four members of the Township Zoning Board who were entitled to vote on the question, unanimously agreed to give the variances.

The three are Everett B. Garretson, chairman; Margaret Broadwater and J. Taylor Woodward III. Alan Jeydel, the fourth member, was absent.

On January 15, Mr. Yedlin and the Authority will appear before Township Committee asking approval of the Zoning Board's recommendation to grant a use-variance for construction of the apartments in a residential zone.

The Zoning Board first heard the case for so-called "bulk" variances at its December 21 meeting. The special meeting was scheduled for last Friday so the case could be concluded, if possible, by the end of the year.

The public part of the meeting ended at 9:30. For the next two hours, board members worked in executive session to achieve a compromise between room-size requirements in the ordinance, and the lower figures presented at the first hearing and derived from an out-of-date Federal manual.

Thomas C. Jamieson Jr., attorney for the Authority, explained again Friday that Federal Housing and Urban Development officials might alter room dimensions to reduce costs, or meet "furnishability" standards which aren't defined in square-footage terms.

Zoning board members also agreed to a minimum of 120 parking spaces. If the Township's site-plan review committee wants fewer spaces, the Authority must return to the zoners.

3 ARRESTED HERE

From Philadelphia. Three men, all residents of Philadelphia, were arrested by Township police Saturday afternoon, following a routine car check. Sgt. David Potts stopped their car on The Great Road at 3:45 near the intersection of Cherry Valley Road.

In Mercer County Jail in lieu of $7,000 bail set by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. is Edward L. Krotonski, 38. He has been charged by Sgt. Potts with carrying a concealed weapon (a fully loaded .25 caliber pistol), possession of a stolen car, and possession of stolen property. The latter was from a house entry in Montgomery Township. The car the three were riding in had been stolen in Pennsylvania.

Also charged by Sgt. Potts with possession of stolen property and failue to give a good account of oneself is Charles T. Straub, 20. He is free in $500 bail.

Charged with carrying a fully-loaded .25 caliber pistol and possession of stolen property is George H. Futch, 43, presently free on $5,000 bail. He was charged by Ptl. James Vandermark, who operated a back up patrol car and assisted Sgt. Potts. All three were scheduled to appear in Township Court Wednesday before Judge Tams.

According to Sgt. Potts, Krotonski, the driver, produced a driver's license and a temporary registration for the car. A check with Philadelphia authorities, however, revealed that the car had been stolen, the registration forged and that Krotonski was wanted by the Philadelphia police on several charges, including parole violation.

Township police then, armed with a serch warrant, searched the suspects' car. They recovered allegedly stolen items. One of the loaded pistols was found under the driver's seat.

Woman Detained. Another resident of Philadelphia, Pamela Hopkins, 23, later appeared at Township headquarters to bail out Futch. To visit the prisoner, she had to produce identification.

Still another check with Pennsylvania authorities revealed that Miss Hopkins was wanted on a bench warrant by the Philadelphia police for possession of narcotics. She was transported to Mercer County Jail where she was detained to await extradition to Pennsylvania.

STUDENT ARRESTED

With Pound of Marijuana. Kurt Bauman, 19, 631 Mount Lucas Road, a student home for the holidays, was arrested last week at his home by Township Detective Frank Boccanfuso. He has been charged with possession of about a pound of marijuana.

Released later in his own recognizance, Bauman was scheduled to appear Wednesday in Township court.

Detective Samuel Bianco reported that Bauman's arrest was the result of information received from Newark Port Authority Police and an investigation by Township police.

"ASHES TO NIXON"

New Peace Campaign. A symbolic protest to the Vietnam war began in Princeton last week as peace activists began mailing envelopes filled with ashes to President Nixon.

The idea is being promoted through telephone chains and through contact with national peace groups. Each person is asked to call four local friends and one out-of town friend to join the "Ashes to Nixon" protest.

"The response has been overwhelming," according to Mrs. Diane Graves of 268 Stockton Street. 'Most people can't think of anything new to say anymore (in war protests)." Residents of New York, New Hampshire, California and Colorado have been contacted; a local woman plans to contact a friend in Denmark.

Mrs Graves, a member of the Religious Society of Friends and of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, said the "Ashes to Nixon" idea emerged last Wednesday afternoon, the brainchild of a Princeton area man who wants to remain anonymous.

"We are moving along," she said. "A new aspect that has developed in the course of talking with people is that many said that they will also send a postcard to their congressmen, letting them know they've sent 'Ashes to Nixon'."

The protest is not sponsored by any specific peace group, but national organizations have been contacted, such as Another Mother for Peace, whose California headquarters will announce the campaign in its newsletter. The Fund for Peace Education is expected to swing into action on the campaign this week, according to Mrs. Graves. Others contacted are the American Friends' Service, Fellowship of Recognition and SANE, all of whom are expected to take a stand on the idea.

What's That I See?

Enough to make you
Squint your eye—
That funny bright thing
In the sky.

The year got off to a delightful start, what with bright sunshine and record-breaking temperature on New Year's Day and no rain for four whole days. Monday saw a reading of 63 on the thermometer, the highest ever for January 1 and three degrees over the old mark set in 1919.

It can't last, of course, and by mid-week the forecast was for rain (possibly sleet) on Thursday and more of the same on Friday. But the first weekend of 1973 is expected to be clear, and all that precipitation which set unwelcome records last year is badly likely to be repeated in the coming 12 months.

LITS OF TOPICS

In Adult School Catalogue. The Princeton Adult School will highlight its 10-week second semester (see pages 24 and 25), scheduled to begin Thursday, February 1, at Princeton High School, with a lecture course entitled "Princeton's New Guests: Selections from the Norton Simon, Museum of Art." It will be given from 8-9 p.m. Thursdays.

Lecturers will show slides of paintings and sculptures from the Norton Simon collection now on exhibition at the Princeton University Art Museum. Speakers will be members of the University's Department of Art and Archeology, and the museum staff. The course is being coordinated by Dr. Anne van Biren.

Topics will include collectors and collections; Renaissance, 17th and 18th centuries; Realism and other currents in the 19th century; Impressionism and Post Impressionism; Degas and his contemporaries; and Cubism, The Paris School, and German Expressionism. The class will also visit the museum.

"Baby and Child Care," another lecture course, will be presented on Thursdays from 8-9 p.m., by Leland Van den Daele, a member of the Research Division of Educational Testing Service. This course will be a discussion and evaluation of the factors that contribute to individual differences—genetic, pre-natal, per-natal, nutritional, psychological, and educational, with an emphasis on practical techniques.

Dr Van den Daele has degrees in psychology and child development from the University of San Francisco and Purdue University. He also taught in the Child Development Laboratory at the University of Illinois before coming to E T S.

Also on Thursdays. An introduction to principles of finance, "Personal Finance" will explain methods and systems by which a family can achieve its financial goals. The lecturer will be Carl C. Storey, business manager of Princeton Day School, who will discuss taxation, records and budgeting, principles of investment, insurance, savings and annuities, negotiable paper, borrowing, and real estate. These lectures will be given from 8 - 9 p.m.

"Law for the Layman," to be given by Arnold M. Melik, Special Assistant to the New Jersey Public Defender, will be continued from the fall semester by special request of the class. It is not necessary to have taken the previous course in order to be eligible. The class will be held on Thursdays from 9 - 10 p.m.

"Major Modern Poets," a discussion of Yeats, Eliot, Pound, Thomas, Dickinson, Cummings and Frost, will be given by Peter Sears, of the English department of Princeton Day School. Mr. Sears is a graduate of Yale, and has worked for two years at the Iowa Writers' Workshop. He has published poems in The Saturday Review, Southern Poetry Review, Beloit Poetry Quarterly, Mademoiselle, Poetry Northwest, and the New York Times.

And on Tuesdays, five other lecture courses, to be given on Tuesday nights, will begin February 6. These are "Geological Processes," "Modern Drama," "The Comedy of Murder," "Early Medieval and Byzantine Art," and "Interpersonal Communication."

Dr. Erling Dorf, Professor of Geology at the University, will lecture from 8 - 9 p.m., Tuesdays on the nature and properties of earth materials, and the processes by which they are formed, altered, transported, and distorted, and the nature and development of the landscape.

The course in modern drama, to be given by Robert S. Knapp, assistant professor of English at Princeton University, will cover about 20 works, at least half by contemporary dramatists.

Two of the plays will be performed at McCarter Theatre during the spring season, and one will be a new script which Dr. Knapp will direct at Theatre Intime. This course will also meet at 8 p.m., and will continue for two hours.

"The Comedy of Murder" is subtitled "English and American Detective Fiction," and will be conducted by Professor Judith Wilt, also of the University English Department.

Works to be considered will be Dickens' "Bleak House," and detective fiction by Poe, Conan Doyle, Dorothy Sayers, Ellery Queen, Agatha Cristie, Dashiell Hammett and Ross

SILENT VIGIL: About 100 Princeton residents maintained silent vigil in opposition to the Vietnam war during municipal re-organization ceremonies New Year's Day. This group stands before the entrance to Borough Hall. At the invitation of Borough Council, the vigil continued inside the hall during the ceremonies. A similar silent group stood outside Township Hall. The vigil was joined, spontaneously, by various individuals as they came to Borough Hall. It was organized by Mrs. Archibald S. Alexander Jr. (Norbert Nelson Photo)

MacDonald. This group will meet at 8 p.m., for one hour

Susan Marcus, critic and art historian, will conduct a course on Early Medieval and Byzantine Art, to be given on Tuesdays at 8 p.m. Miss Marcus, a recent graduate of the Institute of Fine Arts, New York, will trace the evolution of medieval art through the Romanesque period of the 12th century.

"Interpersonal Communication," a different approach to the teaching of skills taught in public speaking courses, will be given by Linda Costigan Lederman, who has degrees in speech from N.Y.U., Northwestern, and Columbia. She has taught speech at St John's University, Nassau Community College, and Wm. Paterson College.

The course will explore the communication process, and help students expand their awareness of themselves as communicators and improve their communication skills. The group will meet Tuesdays at 8 p.m.

All lecture courses will cost $15 per student, except "Interpersonal Communication" which will be $17.50.

Registration sessions for the Adult School will be held Thursday, January 18, afternoon and evening at Princeton High School. Registration blanks may also be mailed to Princeton Adult School, P.O. Box 701, Princeton.

ANOTHER SHOPPING MALL

Proposed for Route 1? Add another to the three proposed shopping centers on Route 1.

Bristol Development Corporation of New York City will come before the Lawrence Township planning board within the next 30 days with plans for a 300,000-square foot center on a 77-acre tract at the intersection of Route 1 and Quaker Bridge Road. It would be located directly across from the proposed $20 million R.H. Macy Mall.

The tract, with an 800 foot frontage on Route 1, is zoned for large scale shopping centers. Bristol officials say the center would be built in two phases, the first calling for construction worth four to six million dollars.

Mayor Joseph Dalle Pazze said that the Bristol Mall would have no effect on Macy's proposed center because it will not carry the same type merchandise. The company, he said, declined to name the stores that will be located in the center until it appears before the planning board.

In addition to the Macy complex, Lawrence Mall Associates is proposing a shopping mall at Route 1 and Franklin Corner Road, and another is planned near the intersection of Route 1 and I-295 by Courtshire Developers, a Pennsylvania based firm.

FRAUD IS CHARGED

To Township Man. A number of charges, including fraud, have been made against Benjamin Borkowski, 25, 370 Franklin Avenue, by Borough and Township police.

Borough police have charged him with possession of stolen property, issuing stolen and forged checks and obtaining money under false pretenses. He is being held in Mercer County Jail in lieu of $7,000 bail.

Township police have a detainer out for his arrest, charging he defrauded Bob Lang's in the Princeton Shopping Center when he wrote a worthless personal check for $226.62. Borkowski was scheduled to appear in Borough court this Wednesday afternoon.

He was arrested early Thursday afternoon by Ptl. David Lewis inside the First National Bank. Ptl. Lewis, on foot patrol, responded to a call to headquarters by Gerald Dollar, head of the bank's security. Mr. Dollar told police that there was a man inside the bank whom he suspected of having stolen checks in his possession.

After a tedious investigation by Borough police, the result, according to Chief Michael Carnevale, of false identification and names, it was determined that the suspect was Borkowski.

According to police, Borkowski had earlier opened a checking account in ther bank, depositing a check for over $200. The check, police said, had been stolen from a New Brunswick law firm. Borkowski made a withdrawal the second day and another on the third day when he was arrested.

Det. Samuel Bianco of the Township charged Borkowski with fraud on Friday, after Township police, executed a search warrant for the suspect's apartment on information supplied by Borough police. Additional charges are pending, Det. Bianco said.

In checking with Trenton police to verify his name, Chief Carnevale said that the records reveal that Borkowski had had a previous arrest there but had given a false name.

TV SET STOLEN

From Elm Lane Home. A television set valued at $400 was stolen the day after Christmas from the home of Sydnor Penick, 31 Elm Lane.

Police said that entry was gained through a second floor window. Nothing else was taken. Investigating for the Borough police are Sgt. Thomas Procaccino and Detectives Timothy Huizing and Thomas Michaud.

Moppets to Enroll in Classes at High School

Daydreams are all right in their way, but 20 Princeton High School students are being practical about potential jobs involving pre-school youngsters. They're enrolled in the new Child Care Careers course which opens a nursery school on January 29 right in the high school.

"I have students who are interested in being kindergarten teachers, pediatric nurses, social workers and in going directly into the child care field directly after graduation," Mrs. Nancy Arcamone, home economist who is class director, said last week.

The program, funded with about $6,000 in state and federal moneys, is a "first" for the Princeton school system. Mrs. Arcamone started it all two years ago with a proposal which weathered scrutiny by local school officials and successively, on state and federal levels. The money was granted late in the spring, with the bulk of it designated for an aide.

The 20 students—all girls, this year, and it's only funded for a year—have worked since September on the plans and practicalities of the "Princeton High School Children's Center," which is the title they have selected.

GET READY, GET SET: Mrs. Nancy Arcamone's innovative program at Princeton High School begins in a few weeks, offering students a chance to work with small children before they select a child-oriented career—and also giving about 15 spry moppets a free nursery school.

Plenty of Preparation. All juniors and seniors, they have planned the layout of the nursery, pored over catalogues and ordered supplies, made posters announcing the school, written letters of acceptance to parents, developed a tentative routine for the children, and have experienced a run-through with a pre-school class from within the school system.

"When we had the pre-kindergarten children come in," Mrs. Arcamone says, "it was just to go through our sample day—but the reaction from the other high school students was marvelous. When they saw those little kids come through the halls, there was a very happy response!"

The girls have made toys, studying the various types of useful child education games and gadgets; they've studied the physical, intellectual and emotional development of a child—working all fall on these matters.

An advisory group from the community has assisted: Mrs. Hannah Fox of the school board, Mrs. Edith Martin, Mrs. Rosa Brown, Mrs. Fay Streeter, Dr. Benjamin Silverman, Lester Barlow, Donald Ringelmann, Mrs. Alice Male, Miss Portia Edwards, Mrs. Judith Bellemore and Dr. Frank Soda.

Fifteen Enrolled. Fifteen pre-schoolers are benefiting from all this attention for free. They will meet in Room 143 (which is shared with the English Department) from 8:55 to 10:30 a.m., every morning except Wednesdays. Class time on Wednesdays will be used for planning and evaluation. Every girl is required to keep a daily journal of the class activities and her observations.

They will form committees: arts and crafts; food, outdoor play, music, library, games, with each girl serving on each committee at least twice before the school closes.

Princeton Public Library offered its help and as a result the library committee will go there to research books they feel will be right for children and be responsible for signing out and returning the books. The library is also planning to talk with the students about the facilities available.

"This is exciting because we are all in it together!" Mrs. Arcamone laughs. "There are some aspects that we will probably change.

"The girls have actually had the experience of organizing a program from scratch—and this is invaluable. Some of the students have previous experience with children in camp situations, at the Y, in church nurseries. Most of them see this as pre-vocational' trying out their interest before they enroll in further training."

As with an new programs, the girls are aware that things can go wrong: some of the orange, stackable chairs for the children have disappeared; Mrs. Florence Rosenberg, the class's aide all fall, is going to graduate school and the search is on for a replacement.

Contributions Welcome. Sharing space with the English Department means that the nursery accommodations must be kept very tidy. The cold tile floor needs a rug large enough for 15—and maybe 17 children to sit on. Small tables and chairs, playroom size, are needed, as well as a tricycle, a kiddie car, ride trucks, puzzles, blocks and maybe a doll crib. Book shelves are needed, but Mrs. Arcamone doesn't feel that the boys' woodworking class, with is turning out high level work, should be diverted into making just bookshelves.

The program, funded for for only a year, and to be evaluated in the spring, turns the school system's previous pre-school program in the direction of a learning experience for two age groups. Mrs. Arcamone, who has taught at PHS for the past eight years, is a Douglass alumnae who has taken graduate courses in vocational education training.

"There's such a need for properly trained people in the field of child care. More and more women are working, so there's a need for child care facilities. These students may move anywhere in the country and find there's a need for people who understand young children, who know what they require, and can carry out those requirements.

"The students come from across the board in the student body for a chance to see if they like this kind of work before they get locked into it."

Fund Reaches $3,861

Contributions to the 26th annual TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund now stand at $3,861.18.

It is never too late to give, particularly since the money received is used to assist Princetonians in need throughout the year. Checks should be made payable to The TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund and mailed to P.O. Box 664, Princeton.

Every cent contributed goes to the cases approved by the Family Service Agency of Princeton. TOWN TOPICS meets all administrative costs.

Borough Election Districts Being Re-drawn

Election districts in the Borough, in a kind of Chinese puzzle game, are being re-drawn.

The key piece in the puzzle is District One which now has, what with University student registration, a total of 1,500 voters. The state maximum for a district is 900, so a lot of moving and shifting is in order.

Administrator Robert F. Mooney, who has the job, says he hopes he can retain nine districts for the municipality. But he warns that an extra district or so may have to be created.

He would like to keep the present nine by consolidating some districts — perhaps Six and Seven — or slicing a bit here and there from some others.

Mr. Mooney feels he has to keep the University campus intact in a single district. Otherwise, he points out, a student who moved from one dorm to another might thereby move out of one district and into another, and would have to register all over again.

The last Borough revision was about ten years ago when District Three was divided to make the present Distict Nine.

Although he plans to confer with representatives from Democratic and Republican parties, the final decision is Mr. Mooney's. And, of course, Mayor and Council who must give final approval.

Deadline, more or less, is March so the new districting will be ready by the time primaries roll around.

PLANNING UNDER WAY

For Wellesley Antiques Show. The Princeton Antiques Show, sponsored by the Central New Jersey Wellesley Club in the Princeton Day School, will open with a Patron's Preview and Cocktail Party Wednesday evening, March 21, from 6 to 9. News Of The THEATRES

DANCE, BUT SRO

For Next Two Events. Even the audience will be on its feet for the next two dance events at McCarter Theatre.

The Joffrey apprentice company, due this Sunday at 3 p.m., is sold out, and only standing room remains. The young Joffrey dancers will present Gerald Arpino's "Confetti," set to the music of Rossini; "Schumann Opus 6," a lyrical work choreographed by Jonathan Watts, "Facade," a free adaptation from Edith Sitwell's poems and William Walton's score and "The Still Point," a poignant vignette of a rejected adolescent girl who finds mature love. Debussy's string quartet provide the score.

The Dancers of Bali will return to McCarter January 14 at 3 p.m. for their first visit in 21 years. The company of 50 performers will include clowns and the full Gamelan Orchestra. Again, it's SRO.

For its McCarter program, the group has chosen a call to the gods called the "Pendet;" a war dance called the "Baris;" a dance of the bees "Oleg Tumbulilgam;" a masked dance and the "Taruna-Djaja," the story of a young Balinese prince.

"TROJAN WOMEN"

McCarter Film. Michael Cacoyannis' adaptation of Euripides' "The Trojan Women" will be shown next Wednesday, January 10 at 8 p.m. in the Movies at McCarter series.

Katharine Hepburn plays Hecuba, Vanessa Redgrave is Andromache; Irene Papas is Helen and Genevieve Bujold plays Cassandra in this film.

Next Friday, January 12, McCarter will screen a Jane Fonda double feature and on Saturday, January 13 a 1936 film on the evils of marijuana. In the Fonda double bill will be "Klute" and "They Shoot Horses, Don't They?" The shows will start at 8 p.m.

"Reefer Madness," billed as "a hilarious 1936 film," will be shown at 7 p.m. and again at 9 p.m. With it will be a short called "Martian Space Party" featuring The Firesign Theatre.

KEYBOARD PEDALS

For Harpsichordist. Anthony Newman will play an all-Bach program on both harpsichord and pedal harpsichord when he makes his Princeton debut at McCarter next Monday at 8:30 p.m.

He will play the Partita in B Minor and the Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue in D Minor, both on the harpsichord, for the first half of his program.

After intermission, he will play three compositions on the pedal harpsichord: the Fantasie and Fugue in G Minor, the Trio Sonata No. 6 in G Major and the Passacaglia and Fugue in C Minor.

. . . IN THE DARK

With "Black Comedy." Mistaken identity, slight gags and frantic moving of furniture — all acted as though the actors were in the dark — characterize the farce called "Black Comedy" that will open Friday, January 12, at the Unitarian Church under the banner of Princeton Community Players.

Curtain time opening night is 8:30 and after the play, the audience is invited to a reception (price included in ticket).

Performances of "Black Comedy" will continue next Saturday, January 13; and Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 18, 19 and 20. Tickets are on sale at Marsh's, 30 Nassau.

The play takes place in the apartment of a sculptor (Allan Salkin). There are an artsy neighbor (William Agress);

"BLACK COMEDY": Actors are in the "dark" and audience in the lights in Community Players' forthcoming farce. Here are Allan Salkin and Sara Afflerbach, groping around.

the sculptor's future father-in-law (Norm Friedman); a German millionaire art dealer (Ed Hunt); a spinster neighbor (Alice McGrath); the sculptor's fiancee (Sara Afflerbach); an electrician who tries to remedy the dark (Lorin Zissman); the sculptor's former mistress (Liz Fillo), and probably others too numerous to mention.

CONCERT SUNDAY

Rare Instruments Featured. The Jennifer Lehmann Broken Consort — a mix of early wind, string, plucked and keyboard instruments often joined by voices — will present a varied and unusual program of music in All Saints Church this Sunday, at 8 p.m. The recital, open to all without charge, is the third event in this year's Trinity-All Saints Concerts series.

The program features a group of pieces from Shakespeare's time, including several written for the virginals and found in such celebrated contemporary collections as the Fitzwilliam Book. Mathilde McKinney, harpsichord, will be the soloist.

Other works include the little-known Sonata for Viola and Bass Recorder of C. P. E. Bach, and a sacred piece from Schutz's Sinphoniae Sacrae II, scored for two soprano voices, bass, two obbligato instruments, and continuo. The Consort, many of whose members play several different instruments and also sing, extends its repertoire on Sunday from the 15th century to the 19th, opening the concert with a group of 15th-century instrumental pieces, and closing it with a group of Early American hymns dating from about 1820 and preserved in such collections as "The Sacred Harp" and "Southern Harmony."

The performers fall into two categories: those who are primarily instrumentalists and those who are primarily singers. In the first group are Sylvia Fontijn, Kathy Kemp (who plays viola in the C. P. E. Bach), Jennifer Lehmann, Geoffrey Naylor, and Wilbur Stewart, who between them play such instruments as recorder, krummhorn, psaltery, harp, kortholt, and rauschpfeiff. In the second group are Helen Kemp, soprano; John Kemp, tenor and 'cello; Mary Kemp, soprano and Alan Knotts, bass.

PRINCE

The French Connection and M*A*S*H (double bill now playing). A tense, terrific thriller, "The French Connection" is based on actual events and a still unclosed case in the New York police files. Gene Hackman and Roy Scheider are two free-wheeling detectives who crack an international heroin smuggling ring. The documentary-like approach really scores, and there is a sensational elevated train chase scene. First released in October 1971, the film has played Princeton area before, but is worth a second look.

"M*A*S*H," another oldie (February 1970), is savage comedy about the Army, centering on the Mobile Army Surgical Hospital in Korea. Elliott Gould and Don Sutherland have the lead roles as eccentric, cynical surgeons out on a private guerrilla war with Army establishment. They turn in timely crafted performances. Sally Kellerman is equally good as Major "Hot Lips." There are some bizarre night marish events, blackly humor

PLAYHOUSE

The Emigrants (held over) is an epic-length tale of 19th Century Swedish farmers emigrating to America. Beautiful to look at, with fine performances by Max von Sydow and Liv Ullmann.

The director is Jan Troell, a young Swedish filmmaker considered by many of his fellow countrymen to be the 'new Ingmar Bergman.'' This, his third movie, won a best foreign film Academy Award nomination in Hollywood. It is the first half of an ambitious six-hour project — part two, titled "Unto A Good Land" is currently in release in Sweden.

The performance of von Sydow and Ullmann alone make the film worth seeing, and while the three-hour running time may seem unnecessarily long, there are countless moments of loveliness to make it a rewarding film experience.

Based upon a quartet of novels by contemporary novelist Vilhelm Moberg, the movie is concerned with Karl Oskar and his wife Kristina who have almost been defeated by the precariousness of nature - from poor crops to lightning destroying their barn — when they become attracted by the idea of emigrating to America. After an arduous journey by sea and land, they begin new lives in the midwest.

Directed, photographed, edited and co-authored by Troell, "The Emigrants" is an intimate epic — lacking in great sweep and vision, but rich in the smallest details. It is rather like focusing on the colored threads of a needlepoint design.

GARDEN

Sounder (held over) is a very fine family drama about a year in the lives of a black sharecropper's family during the 1930's. A film that deals with people rather than slogans, its cast is excellent, with Cicely Tyson a standout in a relatively minor role.

"Sounder," based upon the haunting novel by William H. Armstrong, tells the story of a young black boy in the Deep South, taking a year of his life when his father is arrested for stealing in order to get meat for the table and the boy is left to do his father's work.

He meets a friendly black schoolteacher who sets him a truly adult problem: whether to abandon his family and raise himself by studying with the teacher or stay at home as the one pair of strong arms about. When his father returns, crippled by a prison accident, the choice becomes truly wrenching.

There are many short scenes that give the film its depth: the aging minister whose seemingly contradictory words comfort the grieving wife of the prisoner; the white woman (Carmen Mathews) trying to get up the nerve to sacrifice her reputation by helping a distressed black family; the young boy, played by Kevin Hooks, peering quietly though the prison camp gate, the tentative, half reassuring, half quavering wave of a young mother gives her children as she goes on the long walk to town. The latter role is played by Cicely Tyson, and there are few actresses who understand a part as well as she understands this one.

The musical score includes some fine harmonica work by Taj Mahal and a recording of Leadbelly singing "Jesus Won't You Pass By Here?"

M*A*S*H, with Don Sutherland and Elliott Gould in a typical dromatic moment, returns to the Prince this week, on a double bill with "The French Connection."

Welcome Aboard

by BUNNY STEIN

The outer Hebrides of Scotland — they tempt visitors from all over the world because of their wildness and loneliness. Hills are everywhere and everywhere to climb. The sea punishes the shores all around the islands. And the people, in contrast to their land, are the warmest and friendliest that you could hope to find. Spend some time in wildness this year. You'll be amazed at what you discover.

There are places both domestic and foreign you can enjoy. Plan your next vacation with the assistance of those at WELCOME ABOARD, 29 Witherspoon St. More and more Americans are going to Europe. Once they've been there, they go back again and again. Perhaps you already know through friends and relatives who've "done" Europe the reason for its fantastic popularity. Whatever the visitor seeks, Europe has more of it. Call 921-3350. Open Monday-Thursday 9-5:30 Fridays 9-8 Saturdays 10-2.

IT'S NEW To Us

THE SUN IS SHINING

On The Beaches . . . Southern wear is in the shops and it's a good time to drift through, whether you are planning to head south or buying your spring things early while there's a good choice.

Bellows at Nassau and Moore Streets has sleek evening clothes, elegantly simple; the softest pastels in sportswear, and chic little sweater-dresses in luscious colors and prints.

The shirtdress — street length or long — is one of the most important of the current looks, and fortunately it's complimentary to most of us. Among the choices at Bellows is a gentle pink-and-white check, giving a gingham look to an eminently packable knit.

The costumes intrigued us. Most are light polyester knits or blends thoughtfully designed in such a way that when you wear the dress alone you don't feel that you're wearing half an outfit. Among them: a swingy front-pleated, white knit, street length, with a navy-buttoned short jacket and a polka dot tie scarf.

Sweaters paired with dresses come in nice variety — an apricot mohair sweater covers a jersey knit jumper and a long-sleeved blouse in the same lovely shade. The jumper, with its paneled flair to the skirt, can be worn alone.

Crimson binding touches up a white sweaetr-costume — at the hem of the full, easy skirt, at the belt and the V-yoke, and again around the edges of the sweater. A pretty outfit, with almost a tennis look to the dress.

Among the dresses, too, are the new tunnel (or drawstring) belt designs in wondrous contemporary prints — all in a very lightweight knit fabric. A bright geometric pattern touched with orange, green, several blues and a beige tone is accented in a solid color ribbed-knit collar and the briefest, rib-knit sleeves. And look, too, for the easy-care accordian-pleated skirts on some of the dresses.

Bellows' evening dresses are utterly simple and very feminine: a long, flowing dress in pastel has a deep — and unexpected — ruffle at the halter neck; a gown with a deeply cut neckline comes in one of those rare prints that features one theme — a cerise flower — spaced wide-apart, here and there.

YELLOWBIRD: Among the cruise wear at Bellows, a soft yellow knit dress with a deep side slit and bare-shouldered, turtle-neck top, nicely paired with a cover-up, matching jacket; modeled by Ellen Kerch.

Shirt-jackets. And the sportswear is in the no-problem, easy-care theme centering on pale, pale tones in soft knits — such as the shirt-jacket which is now more chic than the blazer; fly-fronted skirts with intricate, inset pockets; misty angora sweaters, and pants in knits or polyesters that look like gabardine or sharkskin. The old-fashioned sweater sets are updated to wear alone or with a shirt and to coordinate with pants.

Colors? Corn yellow, mauve-pink, the greens, the blues, apricot, all in the flattering pastel shades.

Among the Bellows accessories, light colors in shoulder bags of patent or crushed leather. The bags are smaller than they used to be. Alexis Kirk jewelry includes long ivory points on a silver choker as well as ivory pendants and beads. And from Hawaii, bright colorful sandals — flats with a thong — perfect to wear with everything in the daytime, in such colors as green or shocking pink.

LOTS OF PASTELS

At Duet. Judy Hammerle, the new owner of Duet at 195 Nassau Street, has the same casual flair of her predecessors. The shop is happily welcoming such necessaries as long, packable Banlon dresses; light weight suits that can be dressed up or down; absolutely great Ciao dresses, and coming in any day are bathing suits by Leonard of France, using strong colored, flowing line prints in Banlons. Golf skirts, tennis dresses and shorts are due in mid-January, as are some very pretty silk dresses and pants from Bangkok. Duet is strong on pastels — solids or prints.

Browsing through, we found boutique items from the name designers, St. Laurent, Oscar de la Renta, Geoffrey Beene, Mr. Dino, Malcolm Starr and others. The Ciao dresses, which the shop can't keep enough of, are very functional — a soft pink wool, for example, with a ribbed top that's not TOO tight attached to a pleated or A-line skirt. Some of the Ciaos coming in are sleeveless with sweaters to wear over them.

The Ginori skirts are made in the lightest polyester cottons and to-the-knee or less in length. A straight-sided design has contrasting piping, white with navy, among them, and the Gucci buckles over the two small pockets. Center-front buttoned.

Duet may suit your mood with its deep pink Quiana cloth palazzo pants and body-suit top in a lighter shade. Or in washable polyester, slim jackets and cuffed pants — spring green, peach or white. Other outfits in washable dacron-polyester that looks like gabardine, but is so much less trouble.

For evening, Duet stays casual, but feminine. Meadow greens with an overprint of anemones on a slim-waisted long dress with a deep, boat neckline. In canary yellow, a halter dress with a wide, wide, clinging skirt. More severely, a lined polyester knit in the palest mint green with a single line of rhinestones on the halter-top dress, and repeated on the long-sleeved jacket.

Sizes at Duet are 6 to 16; hours are 10 to 5. Monday through Saturday.

SPRING IN THE AIR

At Clayton's Nassau Shop. The Nassau Street shop that H. P. Clayton opened just recently is bright with holiday cruise wear and harbingers of spring. We found clothes in sizes six to 20, and 14½ to 24½.

Really lovely fabrics dominate the Tanner dresses which include cotton seersuckers and pique weaves as well as the easy-care polyester blends. The shop is introducing a new batch of Twiggs dresses that are very young in heart. From McMullen, fine lawn in pretty prints and also elegant linens and silk-like polyesters. Vilandi, a new dress line by an Italian designer, has fine gathering touches. From Jeremy and Carlye, young, chic little nothings that are hard to resist.

The Nassau Shop has slim short jackets with Chanel lines, in navy or white in a polyester basketweave. Also some all-weather coats that don't look it, as well as feather-light polyester reversibles pairing navy with rose, or two shades of blue.

Tanner dresses use prints with a flair, and all are very feminine. The colors will make you forget the winter. Light weight knits include a flattering peach-toned dress that counts on its own welted seams and a gold buckle for trim. Short sleeves, with a gracefully flared skirt.

Among the Vilandi's, a sophisticated knit dress and jacket in a warm beige bound in white. There's a slim white leather belt to the sleeveless dress and the tunnel belt to the jacket. Some of the McMullen prints in airy lawn have delicate, long sleeves, while others are sleeveless A-lines.

A fabulous jungle print in a nubby cotton dress by Twigg is accented with a white pique outline around the oval pockets. Another Twiggs, tunnel belted, has a pleated skirt of pale yellow and white, attached to a bodice of yellow and white circle print. Made of sheer dacron cotton blend with, again, a tunnel waistband to adjust for proper fit.

Spring coats are something else this year. The Nassau Street Shop is showing several very simple and understated designs from Henry Frederick, a loosely woven white wool with a young, collarless neckline and five bone buttons going deep down the front. Or an aqua wool, emphasized with mohair a generous A-line flair in another coat with an inset collar and slanting patch pockets. Also from the same designer a tailored white coat in an all-weather polyester cotton in the gabardine weave with two pleats in the back below the belted waistline.

For evening, Tegaki hand-painted prints in dyeing drifts. Color, no two dresses have exactly the same splash mix. The fabric is a silky cotton cut with a deep V-neck and three-quarter sleeves. Or picture yourself sleekly lounging in a rattan chair in a sea and flower print from Hawaii.

Dashes of blue and green and a swirl of white touched with mauve. There's a shoulder scarf demurely ruffled to cover the sexy halter top.

Cardigan sweaters at Clayton's Nassau Street Shop are very elegant. Some are pure white with brilliant embroidered flowers or plaids with unusual gold buttons. And of course the McMullen sweaters — imports in pure wool with stretch lines forming a circular yoke. Heathered blue or pale pink, yellows and other solid colors. There are leathery mohair and wool scarves to add a touch of color and warmth.

FOOD FOR MANAGUA

What Can You Spare? A fast-moving drive for canned foods to airlift to earthquake survivors in Managua, Nicaragua, is underway this Wednesday and Thursday in Princeton.

With the aid of telephone trees, campaigns at Chapin, Princeton Day and Stuart schools, deliveries of canned goods are being made between 9 and 2:30 both days to the temporary depot at the Stuart School, off the Great Road.

"What we also need is a truck," says Mrs. Rosemary Morales of Fairview Road, Skillman, who is the strength behind the two-day drive. In fact, she managed to get 50 cartons off last Wednesday in 22 hours of incredible effort, responding to a call from relief worker in Managua.

Last week's shipment went to New York by Channel 52 truck, through a curious sequence of happenstances, and was airlifted to Nicaragua by Pan American. The cartons piled up in mad array in the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art, 9 Spring Street, where Barry and Arlene Snyder, the owners, waded through them and worked on the drive. Their two children, Jill 15, and Kim 12, retreated home to Morrisville where they called 40 people.

Mrs. Snyder, not to be outdone by her youngsters, is organizing the Bucks County, Pa. drive for canned foods—looping in county commissioners, the union at U.S. Steel's Fairless Works, her friends and a fair number of schools.

At the Heart of It. Mrs. Morales, trooping on, is heart and soul in the two-day drive here, driving around to pick up donations, calling possible donors. Dark-haired, pretty, London-born, she is the wife of Armando Morales, prominent Nicaraguan artist and cultural attache with the Nicaraguan consulate in New York.

The Morales family live in Managua—in the western section which was, along with the downtown area, the hardest hit by the earthquake.

"We tried to get news of them," Mrs. Morales said Tuesday, "and we finally phoned a friend in Costa Rica —only to learn that he'd just left with a Red Cross jeep. We left a message for him to call us.

"When he called the Tuesday after Christmas, he told us they were all safe, but he had no details. We asked him what we can do to help and he told us, 'They have no food and they'll need it sent for months.' The downtown people are the poorest. They have really lost everything and they have no resources. These are the ones we are working for. My husband's family is cared for . . ."

FOOD FOR MANAGUA: Mrs. Rosemary Morales has sparked a two-day drive in Princeton for canned foods to be flown to Nicaragua; Albert Toto Jr. of Toto's Market is among the generous contributors, sending a pile of cartons of baby foods.

Success Story. The first shipment from Princeton area was swept into the two-day campaign of the Center for Inter-American Relations, 680 Park Avenue, New York. "My idea was to fill my car, and I called 20 friends and I talked with Arlene Snyder. When we had so much, I had to rush out Wednesday noon to the liquor stores for cartons and I had to get tape, because the cartons had to be sealed.

"You couldn't get into the Gallery for cartons. . . We need tape, too," she sighed, looking remarkably fresh. "You know, I've never done anything like this before!"

Princeton Photo Process, 12 Chambers Street, has printed and donated the flyers about the drive that the school children are taking home to their parents. ("I wanted to be in touch with the public schools," Mrs. Morales said breathlessly, "but there has just been no time."

Toto's Market, Witherspoon and Avalon Place, donated a dozen cartons of babyfood among other items; Thriftway added 15 cases of food, and a number of individuals are giving canned food by the case. "This surprised me," Mrs. Morales said in appreciation. "I was just asking in terms of what you can pull off your shelves." It was the gift of a case of food that roped in the Channel 52 truck last Wednesday. The man carrying it stopped off first to be interviewed. . ."

Pan American has sent 17 planes loaded with food and clothes, Mrs. Morales reports. She adds that American Airlines, "which does not go to Nicaragua at all," is also becoming involved in special airlifts.

Anyone with a truck to take the cache at the Stuart School to New York, the number to call is 466-0097, the Morales' home.

And the final hours for donations are 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. this Thursday.

YOUR MOVE! Princeton's school districts have been re-drawn for the first time in six tlebrook, Riverside and Community Park districts. Within Princeton's core, children years, and than first day of school next fall will be the first day in a new school for living on Birch Avenue have been assigned to Community Park; Leigh Avenue young- many children. School officials worked for equity of school facilities, safety in get- stors will continue to attend Johnson Park; John Street will attend Riverside; With- ting to school, social-racial integration and, above all, a minimum amount of disturb- erspoon Street children living as far north as Birch, will attend Littlebrook and so will once to existing districts. Broken lines on the map show outlines of Johnson Park, Lit- children living on all the streets connecting Witherspoon and John.

Princeton parents will be spending next week talking about the new school redistricting plan and where Johnny and Susie will be going to school next fall.

The first in a pair of meetings to explain re-districting has been scheduled for this Wednesday at 8 p.m. in John Witherspoon School auditorium.

Next Wednesday, January 10, from 8 9:45 p.m., parents are invited to each of the town's four elementary schools (Community Park, Johnson Park, Littlebrook and Riverside), to ask more questions about the drawing of school district lines.

Parents unable to attend this Wednesday's meeting may pick up a copy of the new map at any school, in time for next Wednesday's neighborhood meetings.

John Witherspoon School, currently kindergarten through fourth grade, will become the Middle School next fall. Most of its children will be transferred to Community Park when that school reverts to elementary status but 150 are left over for redistribution elsewhere.

Also, because of population shifts, re-districting had become necessary anyway, regardless of the Middle School move.

The re-districting plan was developed by Ralph Heyman, staff assistant in the Princeton Regional Schools. He began work late last spring, and had the basics completed in August for final work this fall.

In drawing his lines, Mr Heyman tried to keep natural neighborhoods, like the 'free' streets or the Mountain Stockton Bayard Elm square.

Also, municipal boundary lines that were still cherished in the last re-districting — 1966 — were dissolved in many cases for the new districts. The 1966 lines were drawn right after the Borough and Township districts merged into the single regional district, and many Borough parents were anxious to have their children attend the John Witherspoon School, which was originally built as a Borough School.

Target population for the four schools will be Community Park, 500; Littlebrook and Riverside, 450 each; Johnson Park, 300. Johnson Park, identical to Riverside in construction, can be expanded to accommodate about 200 more children, giving the school a safety valve on growth.

News Of Clubs and Organizations

YWCA Newcomers' Club: 12:30 p.m. Thursday, January 11. Princeton cartoonist and free-lance artist Arnold Roth will speak. Cited as one of America's best cartoonists, Mr. Roth has received numerous praises for his work which has appeared in Holiday, Playboy, Punch and Esquire. Mr. Roth has illustrated several books and has written two books for children — "Pick a Peck of Puzzles" and "Arnold Roth's Crazy Book of Science".

The slate of new officers for the spring term will be presented and voted upon during the business session of the general meeting. A supervised nursery is available for children aged one to five. Reservations for child care must be arranged in advance by telephoning 924-4074.

The club's various interest groups are sponsoring a number of activities during January. The Fine Arts group has arranged a bus trip to New York City on Friday, January 12 to visit the Metropolitan Museum of Art. For further information, call 466-0852.

Members of the Luncheon Dut Interest group will dine at Lahiere's on Friday, January 19. The Gourmet group is currently making plans for their semi-annual progressive dinner to be held in the homes of several members on January 27.

Hadassah: third in its series Thursday Morning Book Reviews, Thursday, January 11 at 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Stephen Farmer, 48 Phillip Drive.

"Israeli Statehood and Changes in Zionist Patterns" will be the topic with Mrs. Mel Schulman as the featured speaker. Mrs. David Gray will provide biographical material on leading Zionist thinkers of this modern period.

The major text for the study group is "The Zionist Idea," edited by Arthur Hertzberg, copies of which are still available through Mrs. Irving Rabinowitz.

NOTICE

Those wishing to have articles published in the "News of Clubs and Organizations" column should submit them no later than noon Monday, the week of publication. Earlier copy will be appreciated.

Arrangements for babysitting may be made with Mrs. Melville Ehrlich, 466-2946.

The Welcome Wagon Club of Hopewell Valley will meet Tuesday at 12:30 at the Princeton Bank and Trust Co. in Hopewell. Mrs. Lonella Wheeling, co-owner of the Parrot Cage, will speak on "Decorating with Antiques." Mrs. Wheeling is a graduate Interior Decorator from LaSalle College and worked in that field until opening her antique store three years ago.

The Welcome Wagon Club invites any newcomer to the Hopewell Township area to call Mrs. Nancy Reynolds, at 737-3148 for further details of the organization.

American Association of Retired Persons, Princeton Chapter: 2 p.m. Thursday, January 11, at the YMCA. M. F. Morass will speak and answer questions about the new No Fault Insurance. All over 55 are invited.

The AARP, the YMCA, The Red Cross and the Community Service are jointly sponsoring the Association's "Vigor in Maturity" program. It is offered free to older Americans.

There are five two-hour sessions, starting Feb. 1, held two weeks apart. The program includes the best materials available on physical and mental health for persons in their sixth decade or beyond.

Presentations will include film, printed material and expert resource persons. The five sessions cover: Safety in Everyday Living, Learning about Chronic Disease, Foods, Facts, and Frauds, Health from Head to Toe and Making Adjustments in Life Patterns (Understanding Medicare, mental health, and available community services. Additional information and materials will be given at the January 11 meeting.

The ACLU coordinator of the statewide Juvenile Detention Facilities, Mrs. Deejay Schwartz, and the Rev. William Kight, Minister to Youth at St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, will speak at the January meeting of the Mercer County Chapter of the ACLU next Wednesday evening at 8 at 163 Nassau Street.

Work on the detention home study is now nearing the point where the ACLU plans to push for reform through the Legislature and courts. This study will become a permanent, continuing part of the ACLU program in New Jersey.

Mrs. Schwartz is one of several women who have joined in a program to give interested citizens an understanding of what life is like for the poor and troubled placed in state facilities. Last month she spent several days in the Trenton State Home for Girls, an institution for children ranging from ages 8-18.

Mr. Kight has visited the Mercer County Youth House often and will share his experiences about its workings.

West Windsor Democratic Club is planning a party to honor Ted Peck and to celebrate the election of Alan Stutz to be held Friday, January 12 at 7:30 p.m., at the Princeton Country Club. If you are interested in joining the West Windsor Democrats for dinner and dancing, please contact Elise Bruno, Cranbury Road.

Friday Club: 12:30 this week at the YWCA. Luncheon will be served. Speakers will be Mrs. Edna Hunter and Dilys Haynes.

Princetonian
Hairstyling for Men and UNISEX

The Princeton area can proudly boast of Michael Maryk and Mark Gushy, founders of the Princetonian Hairstyling studios, both of whom pioneered Hairstyling for Men in the United States.

Since 1965 they have been called on to lecture and conduct symposiums with a program entitled "Men's Liberation in Hairstyling" at Universities which include Princeton and Rutgers; as guest speakers at civic organizations such as Rotarians, Kiwanis, Lions and Jr. Chamber of Commerce as well as private clubs and organization. i.e. the Jewish Community Center and Christian Women's Club among the many.

In 1967 PRINCETONIAN HAIRSTYLING, INC., was granted an international patent on their development of organic protein products for hair. In 1969 PRINCETONIAN HAIRSTYLING won national recognition as creators and designers of men's hairpieces and toupees.

In 1970 the Princetonian Hairstyling Salons became the first in their communities to offer their services to all, regardless of sex. The records show that 90% of all Princetonian Hairstyling clients have been referred by satisfied friends. Princetonian Hairstyling is not just a one man show. No need to drop names such as VIDAL SASSOON or PAUL MITCHEL either. You will be welcomed by a truly International Staff.

"DOWN TO EARTH"

With Rocks & Minerals. Rock hounds and fossil collectors are forming a new club for this area, the "Down to Earth Club," which holds its first meeting at 7:30 p.m next Tuesday, January 9, in Pennington.

Individuals interested in rocks, minerals, fossils, lapidary arts, including the tumbling and cutting of rocks, are invited to call Mrs. Gail Silver of Silver's Stonehge, 735 3055 or 737 3702. It's a family oriented program in many ways, children are welcome at the first meeting if accompanied by parents.

Special Season for Truth?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Thomas T. K. Frelinghuysen's letter, demanding the expulsion from office of those responsible for showing Community Park students films of Nazi concentration camps just before Christmas, raises several questions.

Is there a special season for truth? is there a special season when it is better not to look too closely at what people have done and are doing?

Mr. Frelinghuysen's reasoning is on a par with that of President Nixon, who thinks it patriotic to bomb North Vietnam 364 days of the year, but turns away fastidiously when it comes to December 25th.

What on earth do these people think religion is all about?

FUND DRIVE UNDERWAY

To Send Choir to Europe. Parents of the Princeton High School Choir have pledged personal contributions of more than 50 percent of the total needed to send the choir to Vienna, Budapest and Prague this summer.

The balance will be raised in the Princeton community by the joint efforts of the Choir members and their parents.

The Choir sang Christmas carols at the main branch of the First National Bank on Nassau and Witherspoon Streets all last week, and received a $750 contribution from the bank. A cake sale last week netted $358.92.

An "Odd Jobs Agency" has been established under the chairmanship of Mrs. Philip Porado. This Agency will supply odd job helpers for leaf raking, snow shovelling ,etc., all proceeds to be considered donations to the Choir fund.

To employ a choir member for this purpose, phone 924-5600, extension 205, between 10 and 12 during school days.

J. Alfred Seitz, chairman pro tem, has announced the formation of a steering committee. Members include: Mrs. Frank Lewin, Richard A. Magee, William L. Peskin, Philip P. Porado, Jr., Albert H. Price, Mrs. Leroy Purvis, Mrs. Herbert Rosenthal, Mrs. John Verth.

This Committee will coordinate all of the parents' activities, in conjunction with various committees of the Choir members themselves.

Mr. Seitz reported on a number of concerts, art shows, and other fund raising projects already in work. In addition, a raffle is planned. LaVake Jewelers has offered $1,000 as the prize.

Tax deductible contributions to the Fund For The Choir Trip may be made to:: Princeton Regional Schools Choir Fund, Moore Street, Princeton, New Jersey, 08540.

APPEAL IS DENIED

In IDA Protest Case. The conviction and fine of a Princeton University student arrested during the mass demonstrations at the Institute for Defense Analyses last May has been upheld by a Mercer County Judge.

Jack Krakauer, a Passaic attorney, who represented his son, Douglas, 19, in the case heard by Judge Arthur A. Salvatore, had sought to have a guilty verdict by Borough Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr overturned.

Mr. Krakauer said in his argument that his son was peacefully assembled under rights guaranteed by the First Amendment and was not barring anyone from entering IDA. The employees, he said, could have used other gates.

He said the students were in a private driveway belonging to Princeton University, and as students they had just as much right to be there as the IDA employees.

Mr. Krakauer also complained that the fine levied by Judge Tams, $75 plus $25 costs was high compared to the $10 fine plus costs given to demonstrators at the Pentagon the same week.

"That's the federal government," Judge Salvatore said. "They've got more money than the state has and the county has. We have to do a little bit better than that. I think I'll keep it the same."

RUG MART EVACUATED

For Gas Fumes. When Walter Harris, manager of the Rug Mart and Ivy Manor in the Princeton Shopping Center, opened the store Friday morning at 8:17, he immediately detected a strong smell of gasoline throughout the store.

The store was evacuated while Township police and Fire Chief Allstair Stewart conducted an investigation. According to Police Chief Frederick Porter, the fumes were the result of a gasoline spillage early in the morning at the Citgo Service Station in the Center, opposite Ivy Manor.

While a fuel truck was unloading around 3:30 in the morning, there was a gas spill. Police said that it was hard to estimate the amount, it could have been anything from 30 gallons up.

The spilled gas ran off into a storm drain that runs under the center and then into a small stream at the rear of the shopping center. This stream cuts through Grover Avenue park and eventually runs into Harry's Brook and Lake Carnegie. Fireman ran hoses from a hydrant to flush out the drain.

Chief Porter reported that state water pollution and conservation bureaus were notified and are investigating the incident. Citgo officials, he added, are conducting their own inquiry. Sgt. Robert Hancock is investigating for the Township police.

The fuel truck was owned by Nicholas Carrier Inc., a slab-carrier used by Citgo.

PICTURES ARE GIVEN To Youth Tennis Foundation

The Youth Tennis Foundation has received 43 photographs and photo designs for the walls of its new home at 71 University Place as a gift from Princeton artist-photographer Naomi Savage.

Since 1968 her work has appeared on the covers of 10 Princeton Community tennis bulletins and she has photographed many of the famous tennis personalities who have appeared in Princeton during these years. Many of them are now recorded and hanging on the walls of the old trolley house in various tennis-related activities.

Foremost of these personalities is Margaret Smith Court, who was in Princeton to make a movie to be used in tennis instruction. Ms. Court won the grand slam of Tennis in 1970 U.S., England, Australia and France championships. The feat has been repeated only 3 times before in the history of tennis competition.

Others who appear are: Bob Lutz, current professional men's singles champion and past national collegiate champion; Joaquim Loyo-Mayo, national collegiate champion and Mike Estep, a national collegiate finalist.

ARTIST AND A FAVORITE SUBJECT: Naomi Savage stands with one of her photographic works on tennis she has donated to the Youth Tennis Foundation, 71 University Place.

Naomi Savage, a tennis enthusiast who infrequently invades the courts with a racquet, prefers to follow tennis and record it with her cameras and her panoply of darkroom techniques.

Her work is in museums and private collections all over the world, but she is perhaps most widely known for the photo-engraving mural which hangs in the main entrance hall of the Lyndon Baines Johnson Library in Austin, Texas.

The Foundation invites everyone to visit its new headquarters and inspect the work of Mrs. Savage.

VARIED COURSES SET This Winter By YWCA

Registration for the YWCA program of classes, clubs and recreational activities for the 1972-73 winter session will be held Monday and Tuesday January 8 and 9. Many popular classes from the fall session will again be available.

For adult women drawing taught by Helen Schwartz, recorder both for beginners and consort, French, oil painting with Constance Bonotto, sewing and decorating with plants will continue among others. Activities that are open to both men and women are folk dancing, typing and yoga, and, for the first time, bread baking.

The Physical Education department will again have classes in badminton, ballet, gymnastics, squash, Swedish gymnastics, and swimming. Added are seasonal touches such as ice skating (on the new Peddie School rink in High town) cross country skiing and ski trips.

New classes offered by this department include aerobics exercises that stimulate heart and lung activity; slim and

STEAM WAY

Steam cleaning is a process of carpet soil removal that sprays hot water into the carpet and simultaneously vacuums it back into a waste tank—taking the soil with it.

WHY STEAM CLEANING?

- Steam-clean carpets stay clean longer.
- No soaping to attract soil.
- No soaking to cause shrinkage or rotting of carpet cushion.
- No scrubbing to wear out fibers or to imbed soil.
- Drying time cut in half (virtually all water vacuumed out of carpet).
- Cleans expensive Oriental rugs, shags, and kitchen carpets.

trim, combining special exercises and nutrition tips; tennis conditioning; and a class devoted to the new olympic-style volleyball.

Other new classes offered this winter at the YWCA are dance appreciation; fiber sculpture for women and girls; woodcraft; the how and where of genealogical research. The YWCA also is presenting a leadership training class, home beauty care, a monthly book discussion group and a session that will explore the pros and cons of going back to work as encountered by the wife and mother.

A health and fitness package of exercise and relaxation is available on several days of the week and includes a businesswoman's special, Friday 12-1:30 p.m.

Young mothers can enjoy classes and programs during the day, with their children in the YW nursery. The nursery is open to children between the ages of one and five years and makes it possible for their mothers both to attend classes and to benefit from the facilities of the athletic center, such as massage, open pool times and the body exercise room.

In the Youth department young children starting at age 3 have a variety of activities planned for them. Mrs. Kohut's ballet classes are open to both boys and girls and so is the Tuesday morning arts and crafts class. Several types of creative movement and gymnastics classes are available for little girls. For older girls the outdoor activities group, "Action in Nature", gymnastics and swimming classes, judo or guitar, basketball, ice-skating, sewing or typing classes are available.

At registration times many instructors and staff people will be there to answer questions and give details about classes and activities.

Massage, sauna, and open recreational times in gym and pool are available year round to women from the Princeton area. For information please call the YWCA, 924-4825, or drop by at Avalon Place.

TWO RESIGN

From W. Windsor Board. Jack Baer and Rose Zinetti have both decided to leave their posts on the West Windsor Recreation Committee.

Mr. Baer, who has served for the past four years, has been especially active with children and youth programs during his years on the board and has been involved with the children's summer recreation program, the teenage program, tennis, dance, Halloween, bike and a future senior citizen program. He has also been the Recreation Committees representative on the Township Planning advisory committee.

Mrs. Zinetti, a member of the Committee for two years, submitted her resignation because of her involvement with other Township boards which made it impossible for her to attend evening meetings.

Projects that Mrs. Zinetti has been concerned with were the Hobby Show, archery, Halloween, automobile class, and the bowling program. She will continue to work with the bowling program which is run for the township youth on Saturdays.

Elise Bruno, a member of the Recreation Committee advisory Committee for the past year, has decided not to continue her service. Mrs. Bruno was active in the township youth programs, serving on dance committees, summer youth programs and the planning of Van Ness Park. She has recently worked on a project to place bulletin boards throughout the township.

Dolores Shaddow, also a member of the advisory committee will not serve again. Mrs. Shaddow was involved with projects dealing with youth

ARE YOU LOSING MONEY?

You are...if your bank doesn't pay interest on your savings account from day of deposit to day of withdrawal.

Suppose you have $500 in your account at the start of a quarterly interest period. Two weeks later you deposit $200 into your account. Do you know that at many banks your $200 will earn no interest whatsoever during the period, even though it was on deposit for all but two weeks of the quarter?

Nor is this the only way you can lose interest on your savings. Once again, suppose you have $500 in your account when a quarterly interest period begins. Now let's say you withdraw $300 one week before the period ends. At many banks you'll receive interest only on $200—the lowest balance—even though you had $500 on deposit for almost the entire interest period.

This is not the case at New Jersey National Bank. We'll pay interest on every penny you deposit into your savings account. And we'll pay it from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, providing you maintain a minimum balance of $5. We'll also compound your interest every day, which means the interest you earn today starts earning its own interest tomorrow. And our rates are the highest allowed by law.

To find out if your savings will earn more interest at New Jersey National Bank, just bring your passbook to any of our offices. Most banks begin a new interest period* around this time of year. So now is the best time to switch. But do it soon, because you may be losing money every day you delay.

*Banks usually begin a new quarterly interest period on the 1st of January, April, July and October.

Higher Standards for Local Services Asked By Mayor Cawley in New Year's Day Message

What is the state of affairs for 1973? Our local myopic view sees nothing but very difficult problems . . . in race relations, in education, in taxes, in sewage treatment, and many more!

But Princeton's serious problems when viewed from outside shrink to midget size. Welfare a major national problem is minuscule here; urban decay a blight in United States central cities is not seen in our Downtown.

Many lands . . . who with gunfire and bomb explosions, in many lands starvation for many is normal expectation. Even the mild discomfort of an anti-war vigil in the rain is the merest token of real lack of basic comforts for many.

We Princetonians need, from time to time, to be reminded of how fortunate we are. Our happy position is the result of having sufficient resources . . . human as well as financial . . . to meet all the basic needs of the community.

Two Goals Set. This wealth imposes on us two responsibilities . . . one to help others who are not so fortunate; the other to set our own standards for community service even higher.

Princeton's responsibility to the world certainly includes continuing our community effort to . . . solicit the federal government to end the 18 year old Vietnam war promptly . . . to say that we feel our conscience suffers because of the bombing.

We need, too, to continue to support programs and legislation that will help solve our national problems of urban poverty, of pollution. Tax reform which will cost many Princetonians more in total taxes, continues to be a necessity.

In a way also, we in Princeton, along with others in similar communities, have a responsibility to make full use of our resources. We should not be satisfied merely to provide local services that meet national standards but should seek higher levels of achievement. In economic terms, wasted resources, wherever wasted, are lost to the total society.

High Standards. Our local problem, then, is that we must continue to develop new standards of excellence and not judge our efforts by easier criteria.

The fact that poverty, as measured nationally, is minimal here does not mean that family financial problems are not an important community problem. Here it is mostly found among senior citizens.

The fact that pollution from sewage as a national problem focuses chiefly on elimination of untreated sewage does not mean we should slack off because our 40 year old sewage treatment plant has two stage and comes very close to meeting new stringent state requirements.

The fact that police brutality . . . physical beatings, big city style . . . is not found here is no excuse for complacency. We should continue our efforts to assure arrested persons, and other citizens contacted by police, not only their full legal rights but also a strong consideration of their human need.

Help From All Needed. I mention these thoughts not so much to ask for a change in our direction for we certainly do engage in worldwide issues and we do set high standards . . . but more to urge a continuation of these efforts . . . with strong community-wide cooperation.

High points of 1972 were, creation of our community drug program; municipal recycling; a community end-the-war petition; town meetings, improved police community relations programs; formation of commissions for the aging and for environmental concern.

In 1973 I look forward to completion of the Downtown Plans, more town meetings; a visible start for PCH, new programs for senior citizens, improved recycling, a community wide housing policy; a careful look at municipal consolidation.

These accomplishments of past and future can only come to fruition by the dedicated work of our full time officials and staff and of the many volunteers. We thank them all.

I'd also like to thank our two outgoing Councilmen, Charles Cornforth and Robert Hendry, both for six years of very active service. Both were particularly helpful in financial matters . . . Mr Cornforth made a very significant contribution to future tax savings by his cost sharing formula for the Sewerage Authority; Mr Hendry made an outstanding budget presentation this year and has led us into constructive exploration of the tax exempt problem. We will miss them both.

As we look forward to 1973, let us remember . . . give of ourselves for worldwide and national problem solving, set high standards for local services, and develop an even greater spirit of Princeton Community.

Efficiency, Economy - - - Themes of Mayor Bleiman's Address

I accept the chairmanship of the new Township Committee with deep feelings of pride and of humility. No one can assume the position of Mayor of a community such as ours and feel otherwise. I am succeeding to a post ably — and amply — filled during my time on Committee by two big men, Jim Floyd and Jack Wallace. I can only hope that I too, as Mayor, will earn the esteem and affection which the community holds for them.

It is traditional for the new Mayor to offer a few remarks about the coming year. Before doing so, however, let me say some things by way of preface.

Thanks. First, I would note the departure from Committee of Dean Chace, whom I considered a friend and colleague. I will miss his good humor and good judgment. But this is also the occasion to welcome the two newly elected Committeemen, Abbot Low Moffat and Bill Sutphin. They bring to Committee considerable expertise in important fields of government and I am certain they will fulfill the expectations of our citizens who elected them.

I also wish to acknowledge and thank those Township citizens who are retiring today from certain of our boards and commissions. As Jim Floyd said in his remarks two years ago, the business of our government could not be conducted without their dedicated spirit of public service. I therefore also express the thanks of Committee to those who today step in to take their places, as well as to those who will be continuing to serve.

Thanks, on behalf of Committee and myself in particular, must also go today to those of our municipal professional staff who continued throughout the year, and who will continue in the coming year, to discharge in an exemplary way the day-to-day responsibilities of our Township government. They are the ones who provide continuity to our government, even as Committees change in composition, and who facilitate the transition from one administration to another.

In this regard, particular appreciation must go to Joe Nini, our Administrator, and Gordon Griffin, our attorney. I would also thank the heads of our various municipal departments and their staffs for their efforts during the past year. Their names may not be household words, but many households in our community are the better off, I assure you, because of their efforts.

Lastly, by way of preface, I wish to endorse the frequent public references of both of my immediate predecessors to the cordial, collaborative, nonpartisan working relationship that has prevailed among Township Committee members under their administrations. I know I speak both for myself and my colleagues on this new Committee when I say we pledge to continue this relationship.

For 1973: Efficiency. And now, a few thoughts about our Township government for the coming year.

Clearly, a first order of business for Committee must continue to be that it strive for improved efficiency in the administration and operations of our government. We must continue to find ways both to cut costs without sacrificing performance, and to improve performance without necessarily increasing the current level of costs. We have made progress, but not enough.

Such areas as financial management, budgetary procedures, capital expenditure planning and financing, purchasing, and personnel administration can stand scrutiny and improvement. I hope the new Committee will this year achieve such improvements, singly as a Committee in some areas, and jointly in other areas with the two other governments in our Princeton community — the Borough Council and the School Board.

To these ends, we will help. I plan to establish a series of citizen ad hoc committees to examine a range of our administrative activities and to recommend new procedures that will bring about greater efficiency in these activities.

We would like very much to establish a Princeton community roster of individuals of different disciplines and professions who we — or the Borough — might call upon for assistance. The Selden Committee on Long Range Planning for our schools is an excellent example of what can be done by a group of dedicated citizens outside the formal structure of government.

Work with Borough. The yardstick of efficiency and economy must also be applied to our various boards and commissions, in two respects.

First, we must continue to bring together and harmonize the activities of similar boards and commissions that still exist independently of each other in Borough and Township. Problems do not stop at the internal Borough-Township boundary lines. Planning, recreation, library have long been regionalized boards. We have also created several joint commissions.

I would hope that health and environment will be added to the list this year. In addition, a proposed new ordinance is awaiting Borough and Township action which would create a single Environmental Design Review Committee. I would hope that both Princeton municipal governing bodies will see the oneness of many of our remaining separate activities and will act to bring them together.

The second aspect to improved efficiency in the activities of our boards and commissions relates to their specific areas of responsibilities. In addition to not stopping at municipal jurisdictional lines, most problems we deal with do not lend themselves to neat compartmentalization and tidily packaged assignments to our various boards and commissions.

Although boundaries must be set, each board or commission is bound to be affected by what another does or others do. It is therefore important that lines of communication between boards and commissions be established and that information be kept flowing through these lines. We will explore with the heads of our boards and commissions ways in which these linkages can most effectively be made.

In addition, I would hope that we can give many of our boards and commissions planning responsibilities appropriate to each will take some of the burden off the already overburdened Regional Planning Board.

Work with Neighbors. Lines of communication and coordination must also be strengthened between ourselves and the governments of neighboring municipalities, Mercer and surrounding counties, and the State. I need not belabor the point about how we in Princeton are affected by krowth and development around us, or how many of the problems we must deal with are beyond our jurisdictional authority or financial capacity to deal with effectively.

Planning and cost-sharing must be integrated among the various levels of government. The State and Local Government Assistance Act of 1972, or revenue-sharing, brings a new dimension to the concept of cost-sharing to meet problems that are regional in origin and regional in impact.

We as Committee, in the self-interest of our community, will seek initiatives to improve planning and coordination among the various levels of government. In this regard, we would encourage and pledge support to any effort made by the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council to establish a regional council of governments for these very purposes.

In addition, the Governor has recently introduced into the Legislature four new pieces of legislation which, if enacted, would lead to better planning and decision-making in matters of regional importance.

The proposed Community Planning Law, the Voluntary Balanced Housing Planning Law, the Community Planning Corporation Act, and the State Construction Code Act merit the careful study of all of our citizens. We hope to offer Committee's views on these pieces of legislation as they are debated by the Legislature.

Consolidation, Yes. No New Year's Day address would be complete without the Township Committee's renewed plea for consolidation with the other part of our Princeton Community. This Committee, as did its two predecessors, needs little persuasion that consolidation would be a single best step for the Princeton community, as it faces the future. We are persuaded that in facing the future, and in trying to preserve what we all think of as the best in Princeton, united we will stand, and divided we will fall.

Senator Schluter has introduced legislation spelling out new procedures and providing possible State Incentives for consolidation. As proposed, the most important incentive is a "save-harmless" period of up to four years to permit the gradual drawing together of any differential tax rates that may exist between the two municipalities that wish to consolidate. We know our two tax rates are even now rapidly drawing together.

I would hope, therefore, that all of our citizens will look carefully at the provisions of this legislation, and give its passage our support. If there are any two municipalities in the State of New Jersey that should be first in line for consolidation, it is we two of Princeton.

One final matter. Much of what I have said can be summed up by the term "better communications". In no area of communications are we on Committee more concerned than those between our Township residents and the Committee. We will be taking many steps to improve the quality of our communications with you. The newly installed public address system in this room is but a first step.

We will also develop new procedures to help both members of Committee and the public more fully to understand new ordinances that are being introduced, and any changes in existing law they contemplate. In addition, we hope to find ways to give the public an opportunity to comment upon and affect our budget while it is still in its formative stages.

Lastly, for better communications, I would reiterate my plea for still greater public participation in our government. When I was in the Army, the advice was, "Never volunteer for anything.".

I confess it was usually pretty good advice there. But it is not good advice here. Do volunteer. We may not put you to work immediately. But we will eventually.

I have deliberately not singled out or talked about any of our substantive community problems. They are all too familiar. Today is a festive day; permit me, therefore, to say nothing about them or about what we hope and plan to do. There will be occasion enough in the days ahead to do so.

For this moment, let me only observe that each new Township Committee inherits an agenda of ongoing problems and issues, and each acts in some way to resolve or ameliorate them. As the new government, we are ready to accept our agenda. Several difficult choices lie in the months ahead. As we face them, we will need your good will and your support. A Happy New Year to all, and thank you.

SPRING TERM 1973

TUESDAY CLASSES: Jan. 30 – April 3. THURSDAY CLASSES: Feb. 1 – April 5

TUESDAY EVENING:

ONE-HOUR COURSES

1. EARLY MEDIEVAL AND BYZANTINE ART (8:00-8:55) $15.00
Beginning with the 2nd Century and the late Antique and early Christian periods, this course will trace the evolution of Medieval art through the Romanesque period of the 12th Century. A goal of this survey will be to develop skills for analyzing works of art.
Susan Marcus, Critic and Art Historian (Room 125)

2. THE COMEDY OF MURDER: ENGLISH AND AMERICAN DETECTIVE FICTION (8:00-8:55) $15.00
This course will look at several Formulas common in Detective Fiction. Formulas for rebuilding community, constructing the Detective character, and engaging reader-participation in the story's "game." The class will read and talk about Dickens' Bleak House, as well as works by Poe, Conan Doyle, Dorothy Sayers, Ellery Queen, Agatha Christie, Dashiell Hammett and Ross MacDonald.
Prof. Judith Wilt, Princeton University (Room 120)

3. MODERN DRAMA (8:00-8:55) $15.00
This course in modern drama will consist of one- to two-hour discussion seminars based upon student participation in which a total of about twenty plays will be read and considered, at least half by contemporary writers. Two of the plays will be performed at McCarter this spring, and a third will be a new script I am directing at Theatre Intime. Students, therefore, should expect considerable discussion of theatrical practice and audience response. Literary aspects of the drama, however, will not be neglected. Attending to the interpretation of specific texts, we will also try to describe the origins and the rationale of dramatic modernism.
Prof. Robert S. Knapp, Princeton University (Room 148)

4. INTERPERSONAL COMMUNICATION (8:00-8:55) $17.50
An exploration of the communication process designed to expand the student's awareness of himself as a communicator, and to improve his communication skills. Class discussions and communication exercises will be used to probe subjects such as nonverbal communication, profanity and other verbal taboos, body language, stereotyping and assumption-making; language and culture; propaganda; euphemism; communication and "woman's intuition"; "male chauvanist pigs" and other verbally maligned groups. (Mimeographed materials supplied by instructor.)
Linda Costigan Lederman (Room 127)

5. GEOLOGICAL PROCESSES (8:00-8:55) $15.00
Nature and properties of earth materials, and the processes by which they are formed, altered, transported, and distorted, and the nature and development of the landscape.
Dr. Erling Dorf, Professor of Geology, Princeton University (Room 128)

6. ORGANIC GARDENING (8:00-8:55) $15.00
This course will offer the basics of getting started with an organic vegetable garden including methods of mulching, composting, and pest control. It will also cover the preparation and storage of fresh vegetables for later use.
Judith Nielsen (Room 153)

7. FOLK GUITAR FOR BEGINNERS (8:00-8:55) $15.00
To develop ability to accompany oneself on guitar. Chords, basic strum and picking styles taught in a manner which encourages creative accompaniment and ability to play by ear. Ability to read music not necessary. Guitar required.
Joel Bacher (Room 206)

8. FOLK GUITAR—INTERMEDIATE (9:00-9:55) $15.00
Prerequisite: Folk Guitar for Beginners. Includes traditional and contemporary folk songs, with emphasis on more advanced strums, picking styles, and chord progressions. Base runs, pattern picking, and melody breaks also covered. New students confer with instructor at Open House.
Joel Bacher (Room 207)

TWO-HOUR COURSES

8:00—9:55

9. RECORDER CONSORT CLASS $27.50
An intermediate class for those who own and play more than just the soprano recorder. Those wishing to join the class should plan to talk to the instructor at, or before, Open House. Class limit, 12. Requirements: Recorders, music stands, Renaissance Songs and Dances, E. Kate, ed. (Additional music will be supplied.)
Mrs. Jennifer Lehmann (Room 250)

10. CREATIVE MOVEMENT $19.50
A workshop in modern dance, improvisation and sensory awareness techniques to acquaint students with basic movement concepts of space, energy, time and force. Special emphasis on alignment and coordination, breathing and relaxation, flexibility and toning. Class works in casual clothing, barefoot.
Pat Choe (Girls Gym)

11. SHORTHAND—GREGG (CONTINUED) $15.00
This course, designed for new students and for those who need a refresher course, is continued from last term.
Mary Perpetua, Princeton High School (Room 130)

12. CHINESE BRUSH PAINTING $20.00
A demonstration class in the use of traditional brushes and inks on rice paper to learn the styles and techniques of traditional Chinese painting. Materials (including brushes, ink, inkstone, rice paper, and Chinese water colors) must be purchased by the student.
Mr. I-han CHIANG, PhD Candidate in Chinese Art at the College of Chinese Culture, Taipei (Room 212)

13. OIL PAINTING FOR THE BEGINNER $19.50
Elements of form, how to create the order which is particular to a work of art. Subject matter will include still life, portraiture, and the figure. Cost of materials not included in the fee.
Rex Goreleigh, Studio-on-the-Canal (Room 208)

14. FIBER CLASS $27.50
The Fiber Course affords the student the opportunity to explore the creative possibilities of textile through batik, tie-dye, painting on fabrics and weaving without a loom. Although the basic elements of each technique will be described, the emphasis will be on the individual's work. (Cost of the course includes a $5.00 material fee.)
Kiyomi Iwata (Cafeteria)

15. FIX IT; HOME AND AUTO REPAIRS $19.50
A "How to fix-it" course especially for women who would like to understand the underlying operational theory of their appliances and cars and make their own simple electrical, plumbing and automotive repairs.

ART
In Princeton

MANY COURSES PLANNED By Art Association. Five new instructors have joined the teaching staff of the Princeton Art Association for its winter art class session. The eight-week term which begins the week of January 8 offers 17 daytime and evening courses for young people and adults, in a wide range of media.

Bett Ruth Curtiss, a Vassar graduate and Princeton resident, will conduct a Saturday morning mini-course, four weeks in length, in hammered wire jewelry, an innovation this term. Classes, which begin on January 27, are open to high school age and adults. Simple tools and materials will be provided.

"Fabric Dyeing as an Artistic Medium" is the title of another new course, to be taught by Mayumi Oda Nathan, recent winner of the first prize of the PAA juried Print Show, whose training at Toyko University was in textiles. Tie-dye and batik will be covered and emphasis will be on design.

Mrs. Nathan has been affiliated with the Pratt Center for Contemporary Printmaking, and with the Impressions Workshop in Boston. She has had one-man shows in Japan and Great Britain, as well as here. Two of her silk screen prints are in the current traveling graphics show of the Library of Congress, now at the Allentown, Pa., Art Museum. This class will meet on Monday mornings.

Sculpture in Curriculum. A new course in sculpture will be taught by Pat Huckins, a newcomer to the Princeton area, who studied at the University of Oklahoma. She has exhibited in Texas and Oklahoma, and in Belgium, where she lived before coming here with her husband.

A basic course in sculpture, it will teach students use of materials and culminate in casting in plaster. The course meets on Wednesday mornings.

The Association's daytime and evening watercolor classes will be conducted this term by Dorothy Bissell and Naomi Boretz. Mrs. Bissell, whose work is well-known here, will have a Tuesday morning class in conventional and experimental watercolor techniques, open to both beginners and experienced students.

A graduate of the Parsons School of Design, Mrs. Bissell has taught at the Princeton Adult School and the Studio on the Canal. She was represented in last year's American Watercolor Society Annual, and in Garden State and New Jersey Watercolor Society juried shows, and most recently exhibited her work, with that of the late George Ann Gillespie, in Princeton Day School.

In the Monday evening watercolor class, Naomi Boretz will emphasize individual expression while exploring both traditional and experimental techniques. Mrs. Boretz has an MFA from City University of New York and studied at the Art Students League and the Boston Museum School. Presently a member of the Rider College faculty, she has returned recently from England, where she held three one-man shows.

Continuing courses include a Workshop for Young People, ages 7 to 10, on Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Sharon Safran, and a Printmaking Course for young people age 11 and up on Tuesday after school hours. The Printmaking Course is taught by John B. Needham.

Also continuing will be the following courses, to which new members will be admitted.

Painting Workshop, Mondays from 11:30 to 2:30, with Rex Ashlock; Printmaking, Mondays from 1 to 4 with Marie Sturken; Printmaking (evening session) Mondays 8 to 10:30 with Susan H. Jones; Drawing and Painting (Draped Figure and Nude), Tuesday from 7 to 10 p.m., with David Chapin; Direct Carving in Stone and Wood, Thursday 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 with Margaret K. Johnson; Drawing from Life, Thursdays from 1 to 4 with Yvonne Burk; Wood cut and Wood Engraving with Stefan Martin on Thursdays from 8 to 10 p.m.; and Creative Textiles, a course in weaving with Sharon Safran on Thursdays from 8 to 10.

The Graphics Workshop will be available for independent work in graphics at $1 per hour by pre-arrangement and the studio will be available for individual work in painting and sculpture on Friday mornings and evenings.

Classes are open to all. Membership in the Princeton Art Association is required, but can be taken out when registering for class.

Hours for registration for this session are 9 to 3 week days, in person at the PAA Studio at 3 Spring Street or by telephone at 921-9173.

Even wonder who "invented" the post-season football bowl games? . . . A Pasadena, Calif., businessman, James Wagner, is credited with the original idea. To promote Pasadena's Tournament of Roses affair in 1902, he got the thought of staging a post-season football game. And so, all of today's bowl games stem from Wagner's idea.

Did you know that many of today's post-season bowl games were known by different names in their early years? . . . For instance in the first two years of the Orange Bowl it wasn't called the Orange Bowl at all . . . It was known then as the "Festival of Palms Game" . . . The Gator Bowl started as the "Alligator Bowl" . . . And the forerunner of the Cotton Bowl was called the "Dixie Classic."

Of all the football bowl games, none is more appropriately named than the Sugar Bowl . . . The Sugar Bowl stadium is actually located on the site of the old plantation where sugar was first granulated in this country!

Troubled Tiger Quintet to Open Ivy Season

Princeton's basketball team, which played one good half before it ran out of gas in the Quaker City Tournament, will begin its Ivy League season this weekend. The Tigers will face Harvard at Cambridge Friday night and travel on to Hanover, N.H., for a Saturday night contest with Dartmouth.

It's a difficult road trip — the Orange and Black has lost on the road to both these teams in recent years — and it is confronted with the fact that it has totally mislaid the touch that provided four fine triumphs in the first two weeks of December. After the New England trip, Princeton will again be idle until it plays host to defending champion Penn on Saturday, January 13. The contest will start at 1 to accommodate an eastern television audience.

SPORTS In Princeton

Twenty minutes of topflight basketball in the Palestra last week was all the Tigers could manage before some of them fell apart in almost literal fashion. A ten-day layoff between the Marshall Tournament and a single post-Christmas day of practice was a major factor in their lack of stamina.

Even more so was a virus that had left its mark on part of the squad. Chief victim was Captain Ted Manakas, who suffered through 3-for-10 shooting in the first half against Southern California before sitting out the rest of the game. Before leaving action with six points, he had contributed more than 20 in each of the Tigers' last four games.

Big Lead Lost. From basketball that was nearly perfect in the first half, Princeton deteriorated so rapidly in the final 20 minutes in its first game against New Mexico State that a 16-point lead melted away completely and was transformed into a 61-56 defeat. Paced by Manakas, who hit on his first nine field goal attempts, the Tigers shot 64% from the floor and led by 36-24 at the intermission.

When play resumed, four more points in a row raised the Princeton margin to 40-24, but not only had the pinnacle been reached but the roof then began to cave in. Unable to run with the faster western quintet the Tigers' lack of stamina cost them dearly. New Mexico State's John Williamson, held to six points in the first half, produced 21 in the second, and no one but Manakas and Andy Rimol did a thing for the losers.

These two produced 18 of the 20 points Princeton managed in the last 20 minutes. Another oddity was the fact that neither team made a free throw in the first half, in fact, the Tigers lost the game in foul shooting when they were awarded but four and made two while the victors were canning 11 of 15.

From 64% in the first half, Princeton tailed off to 38% shooting in the second. Manakas, a great 14 for 19, was high man with 28; Rimol with 13 was the only other man in double figures. The rest of the Tigers had game-long problems, and when Manakas and Rimol joined them in a cold spell, New Mexico State outscored them over a six minute stretch, 14 to 0. That did it.

Southern Cal Wins Easily. The malaise that affected the Orange and Black took complete hold on Thursday. Making only one of their first 14 shots, the Tigers were 14 points behind with less than five minutes gone.

They rallied to the extent that they trailed by only 28-21, but then fell back to a 36-26 deficit at the half. The final 20 minutes were painful, USC needing no more than 40% of its shots to win easily when the Tigers made but 32. It was a 70-to-52 final.

The victors outrebounded Princeton so conclusively (55-32) that they could afford as many as 26 turnovers. Rimol reached double figures again (14 points) but needed 13 shots to make five.

Sophomore Tim van Blommesteyn joined him for the first time in his brief career with 10. The Tigers bowed out (with Rhode Island) as the only two teams failing to win one of their first two games, the twin setbacks reflecting their poorest holiday tournament performance in the past decade. St. Joseph's was the tournament victor defeating LaSalle, also of Philadelphia, in the championship game.

Harvard May Be Tough. With Brian Taylor on hand Princeton breezed past Harvard twice last year, winning by seven here and then pasting the Crimson on its own court, 91-66. Coach Bob Harrison has an all-senior team this winter, one that has had difficulty living up to its potential for the past two seasons and now hopes to make a final bid for Ivy laurels.

Jim Fitzimmons, third in league scoring a year ago, is the top-point producer on the team, with Jim Brown and Floyd Lewis the other chief assets. Harvard won five of its first seven but has lost its last two. It will, however, be a tough opponent for a Princeton quintet that has been wondering for the past week whether it can shake off the effects of the two shoddy performances at the Palestra.

After that game, it may also be a problem for the Tigers to win at Hanover, where a year ago they were upset, 81 to 70. Dartmouth and Harvard were both 8-6 in the final standing last winter, although the Crimson is regarded as the stronger of the two.

Another Jim Brown plays for the Green, which also benefits from the presence of Bill Raynor. They were, respectively, fourth and fifth in the final individual standings last year.

Averaging just over 59 points a game, the Tigers are not likely to improve greatly on offense as the season progresses. Unlike Mirtakas, no other player on the squad is virtually a certain bet to score in double figures so that against the tougher opposition the Princeton average is likely to remain... as it is.

According to Ross the defense that will spell the difference between victory and defeat. Because it is difficult to play good defense consistently, the pattern of unexpected triumphs blended with unnecessary setbacks that the Tigers have created so far is quite likely to continue for the balance of the campaign.

HUN SCHOOL VICTOR

In Hightstown Tournament

Hun School basketball coach Dave Leete received a late Christmas present Thursday night when his scrappy Hun squad defeated Pemberton in the championship game to win the Hightstown Christmas Tournament. In the three previous years Hun had participated, it had finished third each time.

"We played two good games—both close ones," said Leete. "The whole team did a good job, especially Tony Trani, Kevin Tylus, Biff Hollowell and Dave Clark, who came off the bench and played a great game rebounding both ways."

Clark, a junior, only scored a total of six points in both games but at 6-3 he is the tallest Hun player and his rebounding may have been the difference. Both teams which Hun defeated, Lawrence (61-41) and Pemberton, 57-50, were taller.

"I wouldn't say we controlled the boards but with Clark in there we were able to neutralize them," commented Leete. "We were smaller but we managed to hold our own."

As a result, Hun is off to a 6-0 start, one of its best in years. Can Hun keep it up? "Who knows," said Leete. "We'll play every game as it comes."

Bench Helps Out. Asked if he had anticipated such a start, Leete replied, "No, no really. We had a lot of young kids but they've come around, and we've gotten a lot of help from the bench." Especially Leete said in senior Jim Lynch who contributed a game high of 16 points for Hun in the upset over Lawrence (which had won the event the past five years running) and from Brent Bystrzycki, "Who did a good job on both games."

"Hopefully, he added, we'll keep going. We're still making a lot of mistakes but they haven't hurt us too much."

One reason why Leete is reluctant to make any rosy predictions on the schedule: "It's a rough one," he said.

Hun was set to resume action this Wednesday against Hamilton High School. On Friday it will travel to Newark Academy and next Wednesday will take the short trip to the Princeton Day School campus where its area rival is in the second year of a basketball renaissance.

Ahead lie such opponents as Lawrenceville, Peddie, Rutgers Prep.

7 Points Biggest Margin

Hun's 57-50 victory over Pemberton in the championship round last week was actually its most one-sided of the season. Until then, Hun had won all five of its previous games by a combined total of 15 points.

Tylus led for six points to pace Hun to a 13-8 first period lead. After Trani and Bystrzycki had helped Hun fatten its lead, Pemberton (3-4) outscored Hun 16-12 in the third period to cut Hun's lead to two points.

However, in the final period Hun combined the clutch shooting of Tylus and Hollowell, the rebounding of Clark and a half-court press to pull it out. Tylus led the victors with 18 points, followed by Hollowell, 11, and Trani, 10. Clark had seven.

Tylus was the hero in Hun's dramatic, one point win over Lawrence. With 1:01 left to play, Tylus erased a 56-55 Lawrence lead with a 15-foot jumper from the left corner, only to have the Cardinals' Glenn Bethea counter with a 20-footer to bring Lawrence the lead again. Thirty-seven seconds remained.

But Hun and Tylus were not to be denied. With one quick flick of the wrist from almost the same spot, Tylus hit on another jumper from the corner with six seconds to go.

"It was our teamwork that beat them," said Leete. "We thought we could run with them and we knew we would have to match their rebounds."

All eight Hun players scored. Lynch heading the list with 16. Trani, a sophomore, added 12 and Tylus, who had Hun's first as well as last bucket in the game, ended up with 10. Co-captain John Laughlin had eight points.

Skeeter Brown and Gary Melillo combined for 38 of Lawrence's 58 points.

PHS AT STEINERT

For Crucial Friday Game.

The Princeton High School basketball team, which finished third last week in the Summit Invitational Tournament, will play undefeated Steinert Friday evening at 8:30 on the Spartan's home court. Steinert last week defeated Hamilton, 53-50, in the final game to win the eighth annual Hamilton Jaycees Tournament.

Steinert has been nominated as the team most likely to fight it out with Trenton for Mercer County honors this year. They are currently ranked on top among county teams and a victory by the Little Tigers would send their stock soaring.

It will be only the second contest against a Mercer County team this season for PHS. Its first county foe was St. Anthony's, which the Little Tigers entertained on Tuesday (see page 31) Next Wednesday afternoon, PHS will travel to Hightstown for a 3:45 contest with Peddie.

Bobby King Excels. PHS didn't add to its comeback reputation in the Summit Tournament last week, but Bobby King supported PHS coach Marvin Trotman's contention that he is one of the best forwards around. King hit for 16 points as PHS was trounced, 74-47, by unbeaten Summit, the host team. He came back with 18 more Thursday evening in the consolation game with Berkley Heights, hitting on his first seven shots from the floor.

PHS won that game, 69-57, to finish third in the event. Summit defeated Essex Catholic, 71-58, in the championship game.

With King providing the impetus, PHS grabbed a 20-13 first-period lead against Berkley Heights and was never headed. King received plenty of scoring help from teammates Tony Bailey and Gil Spencer, who added 18 and 15, respectively. Larry Miller had eight and Leon Robinson, six.

The Little Tigers enjoyed an almost 5 to 1 margin in rebounds, as Berkley Heights suffered its sixth loss in seven games. All but one of Princeton's points were scored from the floor.

It was a completely different story for PHS against Summit. The host team controlled the boards, grabbing 35 rebounds to 14 for the Little Tigers, and at one point enjoyed a 65-24 scoring margin.

After PHS had taken a 6-4 lead to open the game, Summit came back with eight straight points to take the lead for good. An 18-point spurt in the third period turned the game into a rout.

King (16) and Robinson with 13 points were the only Little Tigers to score more than six. PHS again had an unproductive night at the foul line. It made only five charity points all by Robinson.

FOLTINY NAMED MVW

In Mat Tourney. Andy Foltiny, Princeton High School's undefeated 106-pound wrestler, was voted by coaches of the ten participating teams as the most valuable wrestler in Saturday's fourth annual Lawrence Wrestling Tournament. Foltiny decisioned Hopewell Valley's John Jackson, 7-0, in the championship round.

The Little Tigers placed two other wrestlers in the finals—Mike Holcombe (115-pounder) and Bob Zinsmeister (148) — as they finished in a third-place tie with North Burlington. Hopewell Valley with three individual champions won team honors with 79 points. Ewing, 59 points, was second.

Holcombe lost a 7-2 decision to Mike Lubitz of Morrisville High School in the final round and Zinsmeister was eliminated again, 7-1, by Bob Detweiler of Morrisville — last year's most valuable wrestler in the event. Holcombe's opponent was also a defending champion.

PHS also placed three men in the consolation round—Dave Robinson, Phil Ebersole and Wes McClain.

Ebersole Third Place. Ebersole was the only victor, gaining a third place when he won a referee's decision over North Burlington's Mark Daly in the 123 pound class.

PHS coach Tom Murray reported that Ebersole, last year's 115-pound champion, suffered a tough break when he lost a 1-0 decision in the semi-final round. The only point in the match was a point awarded by the referee, who penalized Ebersole when he grabbed his opponent's sock.

McClain was defeated, 4-0, by Joe Yenchik of Ewing, and Robinson, a freshman, lost a close, 2-1 match to Ron Oave of Riverside.

Keith Holcombe, 141 pounder for PHS who has been having a good year on the mat, did not compete because he was sidelined with the flu. "It's too bad because I think he would have won," said Murray.

Angelo Arcaro, after winning one match for PHS in the 168 pound class, was leading in his second match by one point with 29 seconds to go when, Murray reported, he lost his balance, was reversed and lost the match.

Murray described Foltiny's victories as "all beautiful matches." Mike Holcombe, he said, "wrestled well all day." Some 800 watched the final and consolation rounds. In all, 120 wrestlers took part in the event, which is gaining in popularity each year.

Neighboring Hopewell Valley made a surprisingly strong showing, placing six wrestlers in the 12 championship bouts.

The Bulldogs' heavyweight, Dennis Gentilin, garnered the fastest of three pins in the finals when he pinned Joe Maccaroni of Ewing in 4:20. Bill Fritz, undefeated 178-pounder, decisioned Bob Knis kern of North Burlington, 4-0, and Bill Pessell edged Fred Gould of Lawrenceville, 3-2, in the 98 pound class. Pessell finished second in the same division last year.

Lawrence Next. PHS, 1-1 after three dual matches, will resume dual competition Thursday when it travels to Lawrence High School for an afternoon match.

Trenton High School will invade the PHS gym Monday for an afternoon contest.

TIGERS FACE DARTMOUTH

In Home Ivy Opener. The first Ivy League game of the season in Baker Rink is on the Princeton hockey team's schedule for Saturday at 2. Dartmouth will be here to provide the opposition, following Wednesday night's contest against Brown at Providence.

It has been three years since the Tigers triumphed over Dartmouth. Last winter, they were beaten, 6-5, at Hanover, and 5-4 here in overtime in the final game of the season. Boston College will follow the Green here, playing Tuesday night at 8.

Two Games Split. In the Nichols Tournament last weekend, the Tigers scored their second victory and second shutout but were decisively beaten in the championship game. Friday's opener saw them blank Buffalo, 8 to 0, their second triumph over a Division II team. Success over an opponent in Division I, however, continues to elude them.

Captain Ed Swift was in the goal to record the whitewash as the Tigers skated to their one-sided triumph. Clay Kyle, a junior, achieved the first hat trick of his varsity career.

Next night was a different story—or a familiar story, if you consider the team's 0-5 record against opponents in its own division. The Tigers lost to St. Lawrence, 7 to 3.

Down 3-0 in the early going, they rallied to trail by 3-2 as the first round ended. Twenty minutes later, it was 5-3 for St. Lawrence, and the victors then did the only scoring in the final session. In other games, St. Lawrence edged Vermont in overtime, 4-3, and the Green Mountain skaters then hammered Buffalo, 13 to 0.

In practice this week, sophomore Mark Stuckey caught a stick in his eye and seven sutures were required to close the gash. Serious in nature, the injury left his immediate availability in doubt.

RALLY FALLS SHORT

PHS Gets First County Win. Princeton High School's first basketball game against a Mercer County team here Tuesday started out as a laugher.

After spurting to a 9-0 lead, the Little Tigers ran amok against a tight St. Anthony's quintet, building its lead to a 22-4 margin after the first eight minutes of play. Tony Bailey, who had high-game honors with 29, scored 13 of those 22 points.

Before the game was over, however, the Little Tigers had long lost their early momentum. With just over three minutes remaining they were fighting for their life as the visiting Iron Mikes had narrowed the margin to 55-52.

A basket by Larry Miller with 59 seconds left, a dazzling hook by Bailey and a layup by Bobby King in the final seconds enabled PHS to prevail over the smaller visitors, 65-57.

Princeton coach Marvin Trotman's desire not to run up the score and to give the reserves some playing time nearly was his undoing. Trotman started early, substituting center Leon Robinson with Mark Yates with only 2:27 gone in the second period. With 1:58 to go, he had all five starters on the bench.

"We simply lost our momentum when I began substituting," Trotman commented. "When you start beating a team as badly as we were, the players start going one on one; they start playing for the crowd. That's why I much prefer to play an evenly matched team."

Margin Starts Melting. Meanwhile, St. Anthony's, which had lost its last four in a row, started to relax and play basketball. Its shots began to drop. By halftime, the margin was 16 points—35 to 19.

With Charlie Didun (16.0 average), Jim Pinchot and Dom Piccolella providing the scoring, St. Anthony's outscored the same five players who had dominated them in the first period, 20-12, in the third period. The margin was now eight points.

Two baskets by Didun, a St. Anthony press, and a number of PHS fouls combined to narrow the gap to 55-52 with 3:12 to go—the closest the Iron Mikes got. Bailey, Gil Spencer and Leon Robinson all played the final period with four fouls against them.

TOURNAMENT MVP. Mark Ellsworth scored 58 points in two contests in the New Hope Christmas Tournament and was named the most valuable player. PDS won the tournament, defeating South Hunterdon in the finals.

Bailey, Trotman agreed, played a magnificent game. Bobby King, who had a frustrating afternoon as many of his shots underneath refused to drop, added 14—eight in the decisive final period. Gil Spencer, whose one-handed jumper near the end of the game was one of the key baskets in Princeton's final, game-winning surge, ended with 9 points. Miller added six. Robinson, five.

For St. Anthony's (2-6), playing their first afternoon game of the season, Didun was high scorer with 23. Pinchot had 13.

Friday night is the test. At 8:30 PHS will meet Steinert, the number one ranked county team, on the Spartans' home court. "We'll be ready," promised Trotman. "We won't play like we did this afternoon."

RIG GAME AHEAD

For PDS Five. No matter what its final record is or what tournaments it wins, the Princeton Day basketball team will achieve a large measure of satisfaction for itself next Wednesday, January 10, if it can beat its cross-town rival Hun School. The contest is set for 3:15 at PDS.

The two schools have met in various varsity sports for the past five years, and Hun has rolled up a decided edge in the number of contests won. The Panthers have never triumphed in football, or baseball and only once in basketball (two years ago).

A victory in basketball this year will not come easily. Hun won its first six contests against above average competition, including a victory in the Hightstown tournament. It does not have much height, but is a fine shooting squad, and has demonstrated several times it can play well under pressure.

The Blue and White will, in all probability, go into the contest undefeated. This Wednesday, PDS was scheduled to play Solebury away and Friday it will meet Moorestown away for the second time. It won the first meeting between the two, 75-33.

Ellsworth Named MVP. Last week the Panthers ran their season record to 5-0, and in the process achieved the first of coach Alan Taback's predictions by winning the New Hope Christmas tournament.

Captain Mark Ellsworth earned the tourney's most valuable player crown and his two-game total of 58 points set a new tournament scoring record.

Ellsworth scored 31 points in the first game against New Hope High School, then added 27 more in the championship game in which the Panthers knocked off defending champion South Hunterdon High 52-47.

Ellsworth's performance led the Blue and White to a decisive 72-56 win in the opener. PDS started the game slow, and at one point early in the second period trailed New Hope 28-10. Ellsworth started a run on the basket, the Panthers scored 19 points to New Hope's 4, and trailed 32-29 at halftime.

It was even-up midway in the third period when Ellsworth, beset with foul troubles, was replaced by freshman Nick Brady, who scored four for four in the next few minutes as PDS scored 14 straight points. New Hope never got back in the game.

South Hunterdon beat Morrisville High to earn the chance to repeat its title, which it won last year by beating PDS 70-52.

South Hunterdon started the game in a press, and Taback's charges took advantage of it to open a 17-10 lead at the end of the first period. The gap closed to 27-22 at halftime, with Ellsworth, Bill Martin and Ron Webster accounting for most of the PDS scoring.

There was no gap at the end of the third period, which ended in a 44-44 tie. Then the Panther defense went to work. Frank Konstantynowicz stole two passes and Evan Rash another, each theft setting up a PDS field goal.

Two more points from the foul line added up to eight straight points, four by Ellsworth, and a 52-41 lead with a minute left. South Hunterdon got three points in the final 60 seconds, but it was PDS's game and championship, 52-47.

In a warm-up for the tournament in mid-December, the PDS regulars overwhelmed an alumni team 87-41.

BUSINESS In Princeton

BANK OPENING NEAR

At 194 Nassau. New Jersey National Bank of Princeton is scheduled to open for business early in February at 194 Nassau Street. The new bank is a wholly owned subsidiary of New Jersey National Corporation which is also the parent company of New Jersey National Bank, headquartered in Trenton.

New Jersey National Bank of Princeton will be located in the Hilton building, in quarters formerly occupied by Nevius Voorhees. The new banking facility will be prepared to offer a complete range of banking services including all types of savings and checking accounts, loans for all purposes, safe deposit facilities and much more.

The new bank interior which encompasses 3300 square feet of working space has been designed in a contemporary theme, to complement the neighboring business area. Architects for the renovation are Walker, Sander, Ford and Kerr of Princeton, and the work has been contracted by Scozzari Construction Co.

The bank will announce officers and directors shortly.

PLAN NEEDS APPROVAL

To Reorganize Buxton's. A plan to reorganize the Buxton restaurant chain is awaiting the approval of a majority of its creditors who have filed unsecured claims against the company.

The plan offers to pay the creditors three percent of their claims upon confirmation by the court, and another 12 percent to be distributed over the next six years. The plan offers note creditors one share of stock for each 175 that they now hold.

If the plan is accepted by at least 51 percent of the registed claim holders and by a body of the creditors representing at least 51 percent of the amount owed, the plan would then go before Federal Bankruptcy referee Amel Stark for his recommendation.

Buxton's is currently under the control of a court appointed receiver, Eugene Royle. Federal confirmation of the proposed reorganization plan would return the chain to the status of a normal business enterprise, and would restore control of the company to its present owners.

NEW PROJECT DIRECTOR

At Total Research. Henry Johnson of Lawrenceville has joined Total Research, Inc., of 1101 State Road where he will hold the post of Project Director.

Henry Johnson

His responsibilities will include design and implementation of marketing research studies. Mr. Johnson holds a master's degree in sociology from Hunter College and a B.A. in sociology at Rutgers, graduating with honors.

Total Research, a Princeton Communications Group firm, is a full-service behavior and attitude research company conducting national, regional and local projects for major consumer, industrial, academic and government clients.

HOUGHTON IS NAMED

Realtor Board Head. John H. Houghton, 172 Linn Road, head of Houghton Real Estate Palmer Square, has been elected president of the Mercer County Board of Realtors. He succeeds Robert Lambert of Lambert Realty.

Born in Trenton, Mr. Houghton attended Pennington School for Boys and graduated from Rutgers University. In World War II, he served in Germany with the Signal Corps.

After his discharge from the service, he returned to Princeton and took over the Real Estate firm from his father, Harold G. Houghton, who had founded it in 1925.

GOOD YEAR FORESEEN

By N.J. Bankers Association. There is every reason why New Jersey residents and business men can look forward confidently to 1973 as a very good year, a year of expansion in employment and sales and of further abatement of inflation as the national economy climbs to new heights," according to the New Jersey Bankers Association, which headquarters are in Princeton.

The association bases this optimistic outlook on a year end consensus of leading economists' predictions that the U.S. Gross National Product, the nation's total output of goods and services, will reach a new all time high of $1 trillion 260 billion in 1973, roughly $110 billion higher than 1972, which in turn was expected $100 billion above 1971.

It foresees "some upward pressure on interest rates as business growth builds demand for credit," and this, it says, "could cause greater selectivity by banks in making loans." But it expects no "credit crunch" nor abnormally high rates.

The association forecasts good news for share owners and business proprietors in the coming year, despite limits on profits by Federal price controllers as long as inflation remains a threat. It cites economists' views that corporation profits before taxes in 1973 will likely climb to above $106 billion, compared with around $96 billion in 1972 and $83 billion in 1971.

"But we should be aware," the statement continues, "that income taxes on $106 billion profits will take an estimated $48 billion, leaving net profits after taxes of about $58 billion for modernization of plant and equipment, and, after these have been provided for some dividend for stockholders."

The association notes that interest rates will be a problem in 1973 for both bankers and borrowers, and also for the monetary authorities.

"Expanding business activity and heavy Federal deficit financing," it explains, "will be competing for credit, exerting strong upward pressure on interest rates. At the same time, the Federal price controllers have cautioned the financial industry, and the president of the American Bankers Association has indicated that bankers will be expected to exercise great restraint in setting rates." Signs are that some sort of ceiling, probably 6 percent, will be kept on the so-called prime rate by monetary authority action.

Dr. Wilbur S. Howell, Professor of Rhetoric and Oratory Emeritus at Princeton University, and for many years Clerk of the University Faculty, received two major awards for distinguished scholarship on Friday in Chicago at the annual meeting of the Speech Communication Association.

Prof. Howell, 20 Armour Road, who retired from the University faculty last June, is being singled out for both the Association's $1,000 Golden Anniversary Book Award and for the $100 James A. Winans Award in recognition of his most recent book, "Eighteenth Century British Logic and Rhetoric," which was published in the spring of 1971 by Princeton University Press.

A 68-year-old native of Wayne, N.Y., Professor Howell holds three degrees from Cornell University (A.B., 1924, M.A. and Ph.D.). He joined Princeton's Department of English in 1934 as an assistant professor after teaching at Iowa State College, Washington University (St. Louis), Harvard and Dartmouth. He advanced to associate professor in 1940 and to professor in 1955.

Prof. Howell, a former Editor of "The Quarterly Journal of Speech," is the author of five major works and numerous articles in professional journals. Among his many honors have been two John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Fellowships for study in England and a Huntington Library (San Marino, Calif.) Fellowship.

John P. Van Zandt of Blawenburg has been appointed coordinator of vital resources in the New Jersey Department of Agriculture's Division of Rural Resources. Mr. Van Zandt has been an agricultural economist in that Division.

He is a graduate of Cornell University, where he majored in agriculture. From 1948 until 1969, he was associated with his father's farm equipment firm, the J. Percy Van Zandt Co., Blawenburg, moving up from serviceman to president. For the next two years, he was employed by Princeton University as manager of faculty housing.

He has served as president of the New Jersey Farm Equipment Dealers Association and is a past president of the Montgomery Township Board of Education. He is also a former vice president of the Montgomery Township Planning Board. He has also served on the advisory committee of the Somerset County Vocational Board of Education and is a member of the Boy Scout Troop 46 committee.

Diane Bess, 168 John Street, will enter the American Airlines Flight Training College in Ft. Worth, Texas, on January 8 to begin stewardess training.

Miss Bess applied to American late last winter. She was interviewed in May, and accepted four days later, but because of crowded classes, her training was deferred until American's winter session.

The airline puts its stewardess candidates through a training course lasting six and one half weeks, according to Miss Bess. Graduates start work on the job the day they graduate, she said.

Born in New Haven, Miss Bess has lived most of her life in Princeton, graduating in 1967 from Princeton High. After a year at Barrington College in Barrington, Rhode Island, she transferred to Mercer County Community College, receiving a degree in liberal arts and social sciences.

Since September, 1970, she has been secretary and administrative assistant at the Princeton Youth Center. Her job there will be taken by Mrs. Leon Gipson.

Charles L. Ballard, 16 Fieldston Road, has been elected vice president of the Freshman Glee Club at Princeton University.

The Governor's VIEW

By Gov. William T. Cahill

SOMETHING FOR ALL. From the Legislature. The Legislature gave the citizens of New Jersey a couple of Christmas presents: two pieces of legislation, approved as almost the final action of the Assembly and Senate last year, will provide benefits for a long time to come.

The first decides the application of most of the Federal revenue sharing funds received by the State. It allocates $40 million of the approximate $56 million State share of the Federal funds to implement the Bateman formula for State Aid to schools.

The Bateman formula, passed in 1970, provides for additional State aid to schools over a five-year period. We would have had some difficulty meeting our commitments this year without the federal revenue sharing we received. It is most probable that additional taxes would have been needed to meet this obligation.

A Sensible Limit. The bill was somewhat controversial in that some members of the Legislature wanted to increase the allocation to $90 million or about 50 million more than we had recommended. Of course, the school districts would like to have more money to spend. We all would.

But I felt, and many members of the Legislature felt, that we should try to operate within our means; that we should try to meet our commitments and at the same time try to avoid any further increase in taxes. There is absolutely no way, that I can see, that the aid could have been increased another 50 million dollars over the $40 million we recommended without raising taxes to provide that money.

I feel, therefore, the Legislature did the citizens of this State a distinct service by providing the funds needed to assist our schools, and at the same time trying to avoid further tax burdens.

The other bill I referred to permits the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey to proceed with the development of a bi-state plan of major rail mass transportation.

This plan is the result of three years of tough negotiations, and if it had not passed at this time, I fear there would have been a long delay before we got an opportunity to again make this effort.

A Start Being Made. I would not attempt to present this plan as the solution to all our transportation problems. Its significance lies in the fact that we have been able at last to wade through the enormously complicated technical problems to the point where we can finally make a start on solving our mass transportation problems.

This plan was hotly debated, but when the time came for actually voting, it passed in both houses by wide margins. I think most of the objections raised were on the basis it failed to serve a particular area while serving others. It is financially impossible to revamp our total rail commuter system at once. We felt, on the basis of a number of studies, that this plan was the most feasible at this time.

It provide -

For the extension of PATH to provide rail service between Penn Station, Newark, and Newark International Airport, and into Union County to Plainfield.

Direct rail service in New York to Kennedy International Airport.

Direct rail service to Penn Station, New York, for Erie Lackawanna commuters in Bergen, Passaic, Morris, Union, Somerset and Essex Counties and Rockland and Orange Counties in New York.

The project will provide a direct ride to Penn Station for some 20,000 additional rush hour passengers from New Jersey and New York.

It will utilize mostly federal and Port Authority funds, and will possibly require some State funds.

A great deal of work is still to be done. But a start has been made.

ONE UPON A TIME THIS WAS HODGE ROAD: The character of some streets changes much more drastically than others over the years. Hodge Road, once a quiet residential street, is now an important link in a heavily used traffic pattern between Wiggins, Avalon Place and Rosedale Road, essentially a "second Nassau Street." Things were much quieter in this turn of the century photograph looking east toward Bayard Lane from somewhere near Lilac Lane. (Photo courtesy of the Historical Society of Princeton.)

In addition, a College Fee of $2 for one to five credits and $4 for six or more credits is charged.

Tuition and fees may be charged to the student's Bank Americard.

Spring semester classes begin Monday, February 5. Classes continue until Saturday, May 26, with final examinations scheduled for May 29-June 2.

Further information about the spring evening schedule may be obtained from the Office of Evening and Extension Services.

ARTS COURSE OFFERED AT YMCA. Registration for "Discoveries in Creativity," an early childhood program in the creative arts, opens Tuesday at the Princeton YMCA. Designed for children ages 3 to 6, the program of interrelated music, poetry, drama, mime and art is led by Eva Kaplan, a creative arts specialist.

"Discoveries in Creativity" is held from 9 to 11:15 a.m., on Monday and or Tuesday mornings. It may be taken as part of the YMCA "creative care" program.

Any Old Christmas Trees?

Toss them out on the curbside, those Christmas trees so lovingly decorated only a couple of weeks ago, and municipal trucks will come by and pick them up for you.

Borough residents should put them out on the regular garbage collection day.

Township residents may put them at curbside any day between now and next Tuesday, January 9. There isn't any regular pick up schedule.

Obituaries

Frederic R. Peterson

Frederic R. Peterson, 60, of 117 Spruce Street, died December 30 in West Palm Beach, Fla. Born in Trenton, he had lived in Hopewell before moving to Princeton a decade ago.

Mr. Peterson was executive vice-president, director and a co-manager of the Princeton branch of Laidlaw & Co., a New York brokerage firm. He was also a member of the firm's executive committee and was regional director of the National Association of Security Dealers for the Middle Atlantic area.

A former mayor of Hopewell Borough, Mr. Peterson had served a three-year term on Borough Council here. He had been trust officer at Princeton Bank and Trust Co., and was chairman of the Pennington area advisory board of the New Jersey National Bank Corp.

At the traditional New Year's Day ceremonies in Borough Hall, Mayor Robert W. Cawley asked for a one-minute period of silent prayer in memory of Mr. Peterson.

Mr. Peterson held directorships in a number of Princeton area firms, including Base Ten Systems, Mideast Aluminum, Nassau Broadcasting and Peterson's Guides. A member of the First Presbyterian Church, he also belonged to the Rotary Club and the New Jersey Guernsey Breeders Association. He was a former member of the Nassau Club and the Springdale and Hopewell golf clubs.

Mr. Peterson was a member of the Class of 1934 at Princeton University, preparing for college at the Lawrenceville School.

He is survived by his wife, Janet Lennon Peterson; three sons, David of Pensacola, Fla.; George of Washington, D.C.; and William of Chapel Hill, N.C.; a daughter, Mrs. Ingrid Coleman of Chicago; a brother, John, of Lawrenceville; and four grandchildren.

A private funeral was held, with arrangements under direction of the Mather Funeral Home. A memorial service will be held Saturday, January 20, at 11 a.m., at the First Church. Contributions in his memory may be made to the Princeton Medical Center or the Princeton YMCA.

Lloyd C. Merritt Jr., 55, of Princeton Pike, Lawrence Township, died December 31 in Helene Fuld Hospital, Trenton. He suffered a heart attack.

Mr. Merritt lived in this area all of this life, and was employed by the maintenance department of the Hopewell Valley Regional School System.

Surviving are his widow, Margaret R. Merritt; four daughters, Miss Kathleen Merritt at home, Mrs. Warren Vandermark of Forked River, Mrs. Frank De Frank and Mrs. Rosario Lioccardello, both of Trenton; four brothers, Harold K. and Delmar, both of Trenton, Daniel of Groveville and Donald W. of Manasquan River, and five grandchildren.

The service was held in the Saul Colonial Home, Hamilton Square. Interment was in Fountain Lawn Memorial Park.

John Kren, 81, of 49 Park Place, died January 1 in Princeton Medical Center after a brief illness.

A native of Yugoslavia, Mr. Kren was a 21-year resident of Princeton and was formerly employed by the Charter Club at Princeton University.

Surviving are his wife, Marie P. Kren; a son, Albert of Princeton, a daughter, Mrs. Hans Cehin of Austria, five grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. Rosy Erker of West Germany.

Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. this Thursday in St. Paul's Church, with interment in the parish cemetery. Arrangements were made by the Kimble Funeral Home.

Paul S. Hill, 73, of Lawrence Township, died December 31 in the Lawrenceville Nursing Home. He was a retired farmer.

Mr. Hill was a member and past master of Pennington Grange No. 64, to which he belonged for 55 years. He was a member of the Mercer County Board of Agriculture and had served on the Lawrence Township School Board.

He is survived by his wife, Bertha Voorhees Hill; a son, John V. of York Springs, Pa.; two daughters, Mrs. Mabel Van Dyke of Titusville and Mrs. Janet Everett of West Windsor; a brother, Leon, of Hopewell; and seven grandchildren.

Mrs. Bergit Haaland, 81, of Park Lane, Griggstown, died December 28 at her home. She was the wife of Karsten Haaland.

A native of Norway, Mrs. Haaland lived in Staten Island before moving to Griggstown in 1939. She was a member of the Bunker Hill Lutheran Church and of its Ladies Aid Society.

Also surviving are a son, Kenneth J. of Griggstown; a brother, Olal Pedersen of Andel, Norway; and two sisters, Mrs. Signy Petersen of Copiague, Long Island and Mrs. Agnes Pedersen of Andel, Norway.

The service was held at the Mather Funeral Home. Interment was in Franklin Memorial Park, North Brunswick.

Investors Weigh Chances for Social Protest

There's a small, town-and-gown group meeting these days to explore the paths open — if any — to the stockholder who feels that his company is irresponsibly involved in war or pollution or in subtle discrimination against minorities.

The seminar is titled "Corporate Social Responsibility and the Role of Investors." It meets under the leadership of Rev. William Kirby, a Princeton University chaplain, and Jerry Van Sant, moderator of Christ Congregation, Walnut Lane, and investment manager with Lawrenceville Associates, 22 Chambers Street.

For stockholders who want fast social action from their companies, it's an uphill climb — and many are the obstacles.

"The larger the company, the less accountable it is to shareholders — largely because it can finance itself through its own earnings," Jerry Van Sant said at the most recent session in December, when the mix of students and townspeople met in a second floor lounge in Murray-Dodge Hall.

"Options available to investors," he said, ticking them off, "are to sell your stock — but the small holder's sale has no effect, and the large holder's sale has no long-term effect. But the publicity attendant to the sale has significance, however.

"Purchase of stock is not too significant, either, unless you can get some publicity. Some people say, 'Let's find the people responsible.' Well, it's hard to find the responsible person; there are so many layers, there's so much group responsibility."

Proxy Power? Boring from within, in the Nader method of using the proxy statement to bring up specific matters to shareholders, was also explored. Sometimes it works, but only sometimes. "The publicity concerning Nader and General Motors was effective, but in general the likelihood of winning on any of these matters is very slim," was Mr. Van Sant's comment. The proxy route is more often taken by a group; it's extremely difficult for an individual, he noted.

Asked about the Securities and Exchange Commission, he stated that the SEC has the power to review appeals to list questions that a corporation has refused to include in the proxy statement. "The SEC also has the power of judging what is properly for shareholders to decide and what is a management decision."

A student asked, "Well, how about a law suit?" The damper came down again with Mr. Van Sant saying, "Charging a company with wrong-doing is expensive and hard to prove. The right to institute derivative action suits was put into the law mainly to protect the public from outright fraud, not for social concerns. If the company loses the suit, sanctions are usually light.

"If a member of the public sues," he went on, "it seems to be more effective than if a shareholder does. In fact, a shareholder himself can be sued successfully for 'damage to the company'."

Try The Lobby. The option of lobbying for legislation was explored. "We have legislated minority hiring, safety, pollution control, with the Government playing the role of parent," Mr. Van Sant summed. "But you can only legislate a certain amount. Here are cases where individuals and corporations can go beyond what we term a good law.

"Honeywell was one of the big bad boys to various peace groups as a manufacturer of anti-personnel weapons. There were others who made bomb fuses and so on. It was inconceivable that this is going to be legislated. I'm sure the president of Honeywell has heard the same arguments, and I'm sure he feels his company has a responsibility to the government."

For groundwork, the seminar group found that there are few sources of information. The American Friends Peace Committee in Philadelphia compiled a list in early 1972 of America's top 100 military contractors, and also a list of companies with non-military involvement. The Council of Economic Priorities offers a service that goes into greater detail, at a subscription cost of $350 a year.

There's a paucity of literature on corporate responsibility. An accountant, Robert Beyer, wrote in the September 24 issue of the New York Times on the social and fiscal responsibility of a corporation; another writer in the Times recently came up with a numerical rating system.

Lack of Interest. The general quiescence of the public was explored. Mr. Van Sant remembering that Laidlaw's advertisements in TOWN TOPICS offering investment programs in socially-responsible companies brought no takers. One of the Fidelity Funds polled its shareholders ,with a negative response, he said.

Of the mutual funds concerned with investments in companies performing well in the environmental field, one, Dreyfus Third Century Fund, is doing well and two haven't flourished so far. An investment company, Fields, Grant, has just opened its "New Priorities Portfolio," hopefully designed for "investors who desired to express their social concerns while acquiring a reasonable rate of return on their invested capital," according to the prospectus.

"Persuasion seems to be the only effective way to deal with the corporations," Mr. Van Sant concludes. "Working with managements, offering responsible suggestions. . .

"We're essentially asking the companies to take leadership. And sometimes their leadership bombs, as the '57 Ford with a lot of safety items on it. Ford suffered a direct penalty."

"I don't think we're asking industry to lead. We're asking them to be good citizens," a member of the seminar said.

Mr. Van Sant agreed. "You're also asking them to take a risk that the ordinary person wouldn't!" He believes in citizens taking social responsibility voluntarily, and in a layer of citizens, acting on top of the legislative action, who will take "a good law" to a higher level.

There'll be another open session of the seminar group on Wednesday, February 7, at 8 p.m. in Murray Dodge, exploring institutional investors. Investments that involve higher risks or lower returns, and government restriction.

News Of The CHURCHES

CHRISTMAS SERVICE SET

By Eastern Orthodox. Grand compline and matins of the nativity of Christ will be celebrated by the Eastern Orthodox at 7:30 p.m., this Saturday in the Marquand Transept of Princeton University Chapel.

The Rev. Professor George Florovski and the Rev. Professor John Turkevich are the celebrants. The Orthodox Choral Ensemble will be directed by the Rev. Daniel J. Skvir.

LOCAL CHOIRS TO SING

On The Protestant Hour. The choirs of Trinity and All Saints' Churches and the Columbus Boychoir will be featured during the 13 week Episcopal segment of the Protestant Hour on radio, beginning this Sunday. The series will be broadcast on WHWH, 1350AM, at 8:30 p.m., each Sunday.

James Litton, organist and choirmaster of Trinity Church, is the musical director for the services. The programs have been produced by Caroline Rakestraw, executive director of the Episcopal Radio-TV Foundation, Atlanta.

David Agler is director of the All Saints' choir, and Donald Hanson directs the Columbus Boychoir. In addition to the local groups, the Berkshire Boy Choir under direction of Allan Wicks from Canterbury Cathedral, will be heard.

According to Mr. Litton, who is in charge of the recordings committee of the joint commission on church music of the Episcopal Church, each broadcast will feature music from the denomination's new hymnal supplement as well as many well-known hymns and choral works, recorded recently in Trinity Church. Princeton area instrumentalists are included in the broadcasts.

WOODROW WILSON'S FAITH

Is Breakfast Club Topic. The influence of Woodrow Wilson's religious beliefs upon his actions as president of the United States will be discussed at this Sunday's session of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Men's Breakfast Club. The speaker is John Mulder, a graduate student in history at Princeton.

The non-denominational meeting is scheduled for 8:30 a.m., in the Rider College faculty dining room. Reservations may be made by calling the church office (896 1212) by noon this Thursday.

FIRST OFFERING: CUSTOM DESIGN
This colonial is priced right for the many advantages it offers. The gas lamp shines on the walk to the covered porch which leads one to the center hall. The picture window in the living room provides much light, the formal dining room is accommodating, the modern kitchen has breakfast area and a self-cleaning continuous oven. The fireplace in the family room is unique with a beamed and bolted effect mingled in the raised brick walled setting. The 4 bedrooms have large closets, there is a cedar closet in the hall. Also, a built-in vacuum system is included, all the windows have plastic grills, there is a first floor laundry with tub, basement and two car garage.

Ever go along with a deal even though there were elements of it you weren't absolutely happy with? Never do this when you're thinking of buying or selling a home. And you'll be more apt to get what you bargained for if you get expert help. Your real estate representative can answer many questions which may be holding you back or keeping you in the dark about certain aspects of the deal. He can help you with questions about financing too. So don't delay; find out from and an expert.

Take any real estate question to a representative of WALTER B. HOWE INC., 1 Palmer Sq. Tel. 924-0095. Open 9-9, Sat. 9-5, Sun. 1-5. Call our other locations as well in Pennington (737-3301) and W. Windsor (799-1100). In real estate business since 1885.

But at COUNTRY ANTIQUES

can you find .

A cherry game table with nicely turned legs and secret drawer—was in a historical New Jersey home.

Complete set of George Elliot and Charles Dickens.

An oil painting of what is allegedly "the oldest house in Princeton"; not a masterpiece but it has considerable charm. When we ask old Princetonians where it is, we get 20 varied answers so we decided it is a composite of many old houses.

A primitive oil painting of a rather fierce cat unravelling a ball of yarn, competently painted, it must be folk art.

A portrait in oil of a beautiful woman in her late 20's, original gold leaf frame, called a primitive since unsigned, date must be about 1850; attractive because the lady is not grim or forbidding as so many primitive women are.

Calligraphy 2 examples comparable to those shown in Festival '72 of the Trenton State Museum. We have a leaping deer and a roaring lion.

SHADOWSTONE LANE, LAWRENCEVILLE . . . a superbly reproduced Williamsburg colonial with every modern feature . . . total electric heating and central air-conditioning; living room with fireplace; dining room with chair-rail; large country kitchen opening to screened porch and inviting brick patio, family room panelled in Mediterranean cedar with beamed ceiling, wet bar, and full brick fireplace; den or fifth bedroom; powder room and utility room. Quaint second story features a large master bedroom suite in sunshine yellow with dressing area and full bath; three other bedrooms and bath. Full panelled lower level with tiled floor and oodles of storage area. Within walking distance of the Village Bakery. Occupancy negotiable. $118,500

BEAUTIFUL BALCORT DRIVE, PRINCETON . . . one of the most fantastic buys to come down the pike in a long time! An acre and a half wooded lot on which rests one of Sandean's nicest four-bedroom, two and a half bath colonials. Centrally air-conditioned, just five years young, and ready for your personal touches! This has just come on the market and will sell in a wink. Priced realistically and unbelievably at $88,900

A DOLL HOUSE ON ALMOST TWO ACRES OF WOODS AT THE CORNER OF CARTER AND COLD SOIL, LAWRENCE TOWNSHIP! Built about 40 years ago when materials consisted of plaster, handcarved moulding, and luxuries like that . . . here's an individually styled colonial that can take a honeymoon couple or a growing family. Nicely restored with a Quaker Maid kitchen and two full baths PLUS a finished panelled, carpeted attic. Basics include a living room with fireplace, dining room, screened porch and four bedrooms. Detached garage could double as a stable! $57,500

EVERYONE DREAMS OF LIVING ON SYCAMORE LANE, MONTGOMERY TOWNSHIP . . . and to add to the dreams of a modern man, here's a genuine, real-life contemporary . . . built five years ago of redwood, blue stone and Anderson windows . . . offering almost 2600 square feet of living space, centrally air-conditioned and divided among living room, dining room, kitchen with barbeque, family room with corner floor-to-ceiling stone fireplace, five bedrooms and three full baths. All on one floor but with a downstairs that could easily be finished into a second story of playrooms, offices or in-law apartment. Lovely, easy landscaping. $81,500

JUST A COMMUTER'S JOG TO THE JUNCTION STATION . . . A beautiful Benford colonial with all the living space an executive could ask for! Living room, dining room, center hall, panelled study or sixth bedroom, eat-in kitchen, family room with fireplace, powder room, laundry room, mudroom . . . and we can go on and on! The second floor includes master bedroom with full bath, four other bedrooms and a full hall bath. Centrally air-conditioned, corner lot; patio; two car garage. Come see it! $67,900

PINE KNOLL, LAWRENCE TOWNSHIP. High on a knoll, with split rail fencing and tall trees is an eight-year old, two-story brick and frame colonial that can provide a happy life for a growing family. Living room, dining room, eat-in kitchen, family room with fireplace, utility room, four bedrooms, two and a half baths. City water and sewer. Within walking distance of the elementary school. Near a golf course. Many extras. $50,500

PHEASANT HILL ROAD, Princeton Township. One of our area's most desirable locations . . . a pastoral setting for a unique contemporary/colonial. U-shaped for charm and graciousness, built for ease, comfort and durability. Two wings and center hall all opening to the brick terrace that overlooks most of the 2.3 acres. One wing has a master bedroom with fireplace, dressing room and full bath; guest room with bath, panelled library with bookshelves and fireplace. The other wing includes a warm dining room with fireplace, huge kitchen with eating area, pantry, utility/powder room, entertainment center consisting of a wet bar leads to the country living room with French doors and fireplace. Two other large bedrooms and full bath are on the dormer second floor. Centrally air-conditioned. Two car garage. A true delight. $149,500

"LARCHMONT," PRINCETON-LAWRENCEVILLE ROAD. A replica of the gracious Old South . . . one of our area's most sought-after and coveted houses, ideal for the growing family with a love of life! Eight bedrooms, 4½ baths, modern kitchen, huge library, comfortable dining room, warm parlour, tranquil music room. Four acres with a pool, cabana and guest house consisting of living room/fp, kitchen, two bedrooms, dining area, bath. Slightly spectacular. Only for the most deserving. $198,000

LIKE TO BECOME A LANDLORD INSTEAD OF A TENANT . . . we offer 9000 sq. ft. of office space near the Princeton Junction RR Station. Zoned commercial. Ideal for office/warehousing operation. Partially leased now. Blacktopped parking lot for 50 cars. Centrally air-conditioned. Immediate occupancy for the most part. Terms available from the reputable Princeton owner. $175,000

A HOUSE THAT OFFERS EVERYTHING INCLUDING A SHEEPSKIN DEED! BUY IT FOR INVESTMENT AS A TWO-FAMILY OR ENJOY IT AS AN OLD COLONIAL WITH A NICE PIECE OF LAND! Carter Road, Lawrence Township! 2.3 acres with a true colonial . . . dating back to the 1800's. Three stories high and divided into two apartments of at least two bedrooms, living room, dining room, kitchen and bath. Each unit returns $250 per month. A barn on the property might also be convertible into a studio unit. Call for further details. The price is negotiable. $76,000

A MAGNIFICENT COTSWALD TUDOR SECLUDED ON AN ACRE AND A HALF IN THE WESTERN SECTION . . . solid brick construction with leaded windows, stone fireplaces, oak floors and woodwork, gracious and elegant rooms, cozy library overlooking the gardens, enclosed Palm Beach room, modern kitchen. Four complete bedroom suites plus many other combinations. A superb house that could not be built today except by the super rich. $195,000

PRINCETON'S CHOICEST CUL-DE-SAC . . . WINFIELD DRIVE—a brick and frame custom colonial resting comfortably on three acres beyond a circular drive enhanced by a carpet-like lawn and lush shrubs and plantings. Slate floored entry; inviting living room; dining room with chair rail; combination family room/kitchen with brick fireplace, pine panelled right down to the many closets, rounded out by sliding glass doors to the redwood deck overlooking the rhododendron garden; powder room; large panelled recreation room or future library with bay window; utility room AND AN ADDED PLUS on the first floor—master bedroom suite with fireplace, large bath and dressing area. Two finished bedrooms and full bath upstairs with an extra bedroom and bath roughed in and ready for the finishing touches. Centrally air-conditioned and many other custom features. Ready for immediate occupancy. Clean as can be! $127,500

COAT HILL ROAD, WEST AMWELL TOWNSHIP, WITH A PEEK AT THE DELAWARE . . . a charming two-story stone colonial dating back before General Washington! 38 acres . . . far back from the road with barn and guest apartment. Four bedrooms, three baths, two parlors, library, wide pine, random-width floors, walk-in fireplaces, and much, much more. One acre residential with city sewers coming soon (just a note for developers!) 1300' frontage. Good from any angle . . . investment or residence! $175,000
